Empire to Spend $250,000 for Improvements

SHEET STEEL MILLS TO BE MODERNIZED

Program Calls For Installation of Mechanized Units and 3 Heating Furnaces.

WILL TAKE THREE MONTHS

Changes to Help Firm Meet Demands of Competitive Market, Hill Says.

The Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company today announced a $250,000 construction program, to be undertaken immediately, to modernize and increase its sheet producing facilities.

The improvement, announced by James M. Hill, president of the company, will be completed and ready for operation in about three months. It consists of installation of a mechanized unit of three mills and three heating furnaces, together with auxiliary equipment.

Broadens Facilities.

With the completion of this installation, Empire will be in a better position to meet the demands of a competitive market, Hill explained, particularly in the lines of flat-rolled products which they now produce, such as porcelain enamel and lacquer finishes used in the manufacture of refrigerators, stoves, cabinets, stokers, air conditioning equipment and in the automotive industry.

In addition, the new units will broaden the facilities of the company for the manufacture of pickled sheets used in the fabrication of electrical equipment, Hill added.

Installation of the machinery and furnaces will be under the supervision of George R. Roemer, chief engineer.

Part of Program.

The construction announced today is part of the company's rehabilitation program which in the last year has seen the installation of two new 125-ton open hearth furnaces of the latest and most modern design. Smaller furnaces have been enlarged for the pouring of larger heats of steel.

Operations at Empire, in keeping with those of steel mills throughout the industry have been sharply curtailed in the past 90 days, but in the last three quarters of 1937, production exceeded that of the same period last year, Hill said.

Under normal conditions, Empire employs 1,700 men and has an annual payroll of $3,000,000.

HITLER BOWS

Places Wreath at Grave of Ludendorff, War Hero.

MUNICH—(AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler himself laid a wreath today at the brilliant military funeral for World war General Erich Ludendorff.

No one of military, political or economic rank in Nazi Germany was missing at the ceremonies before Field Marshal's hall for the general who had been Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg's chief of staff in the World war.

The rites were the most impressive since the burial in 1934 of von Hindenburg, who had become Germany's president. Ludendorff died Monday at the age of 72.

Hitler walked directly behind the coffin in the procession from Victory arch to the hall where state obsequies were held.

Post Mortem Ordered In Death of Ted Healy

Police Learn Movie Star Beaten In Celebrating Birth of Son.

CHECK NIGHT CLUBS

Doctor Refuses to Sign Death Certificate as He Finds Bruises.

HOLLYWOOD — (UP) — A thorough post mortem examination of the body of Ted Healy, happy-go-lucky vaudevillian and widely popular movie comedian, was ordered today. Authorities possessed some evidence to indicate his death had not been due to natural causes.

Healy, who spent his boyhood days in Canton and Columbus, O., died suddenly yesterday and it was at first announced that death had been due to a "stroke." But his physician, Dr. Wyland Lamont, refused to sign a certificate setting forth the cause of death. He had found a large welt over one eye, indicating that a severe blow administered by a person or persons unknown might have been at least a contributing factor in his death.

Celebrates Birth of Son.

Authorities immediately began an investigation. They found ont first that last Friday, Healy's young wife gave birth to a son and that Sunday Healy had set out to celebrate.

Sunday night, they learned, Healy had been seen in many of Hollywood's best known drinking places, including the Trocadero, the Brown Derby, and Clara Bow's "It" cocktail room. He talked long and loudly, like other fathers have since time began, about the merits of his new son.

Somewhere along his route, they surmised, another reveler, as yet unidentified, objected. Healy and his self-appointed critic argued, then fought, and Healy fell, with blood streaming from his temple. A doctor treated him for the wound, and, sobered, repentant and ashamed, he went home and said nothing about it.

Monday he suffered one convulsion after another. There was frequent vomiting—all symptoms of a fractured skull or brain concussion. Finally, when a physician was brought in for the second time, it was too late.

Told of Death.

His young wife's joy over birth of John Jacob Healy was changed to grief last night when Dr. La-

COLLEGE YOUTH DIES IN CRASH

James Spayde, Butler, Killed In Early Morning Mishap on Ashland Street.

(By Staff Correspondent)

ASHLAND—James Spayde, 18, a freshman at Ashland college, died this morning in Samaritan hospital from injuries suffered in an auto accident at 2 a. m. today. He was Ashland county's 29th traffic victim of the year, and the fifth of the month.

The car in which Spayde, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Spayde of Butler, and Edgar Koehl, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Koehl, sr., of Ashland, were returning to Ashland crashed into a parked truck on Cottage street. It was not immediately established who was driving the car at the time of the accident. The auto was completely demolished.

Spayde suffered a fractured right leg, skull fracture and cuts and bruises. Koehl, a student at the University of Wisconsin, whose father is the president of the Ashland Printing company, publishers of the Ashland Times-Gazette, suffered a broken arm and cuts about the head. His condition was reported at the hospital as "good."

Spayde is survived by his parents and a brother, William of Ashland. He was a member of the Butler Evangelical church.

The body was sent to Butler.

20 CRUSHED AS CASTLE FALLS

Ancient Italian Structure Collapses, Tumbles Onto Homes.

FORLI, Italy—(AP)—A medieval castle atop a cliff in the village of Civittella Di Romagna collapsed early today and tumbled onto homes lying below, crushing possibly 20 persons while they slept.

Five bodies were recovered by firemen and soldiers. Four persons were removed alive, three of them injured. Eight families were unaccounted for.

Recent heavy rains were thought to have weakened foundations of the castle.

Council Takes First Step To Untangle Remy Avenue Puzzle

The much-discussed Remy avenue puzzle, where sidewalks are from 18 inches to three feet higher than the street, was on its way to be untangled today.

Council last night requested City Solicitor Herbert H. Schettler to prepare legislation calling for the lowering of the walks and appropriating $600 for the job, after George Berg, chairman of the street committee, presented a petition signed by nine property owners.

Two citizens from Remy avenue told council that they had terraced and sodded their lawns and built new steps since the sidewalk had been laid.

"We do not think we should have to stand the cost of the changes," they said. "The present situation is no fault of ours."

Councilman-at-Large James E. Crum asked City Engineer W. C. Statler why the walks were not laid to the established grade.

Statler explained that residents on the street wanted the walks laid before the street was graded and rather than lay the sidewalks to the grade, which would have been below the street, he said his office set the stakes for WPA, which did the construction work.

He added that the stakes were set up at the request of several of the property owners.

"The request seemed reasonable so we set them where they wanted them," Statler said. He pointed out that there were other streets where the sidewalk was above the street, and for this reason, they did not hesitate about setting the stakes.

Record Mail? He Knows It Is

Michael Petrushka is a Cleveland mail carrier, but he might just as well be one in Mansfield, or practically anywhere in the country, because at this time of year, they all have extra heavy packs. Holiday mail here and elsewhere has broken all records. Mail carriers were gritting their teeth and carrying on. Just two more days of it after today, and then things would get back to normal.

POSTAL RUSH EXCEEDS 1936

12,000 More Cards Handled In First Two Days of Week Than Last Year.

Mansfield's postoffice staff, assisted by 32 extra men, waded through one of the city's heaviest Christmas mails in history today.

Cancellation records for the first two days of the week showed 12,000 more cards and letters were handled than during the some period last year, the best in the postoffice's history, Postmaster Herman E. Homberger said.

Monday and Tuesday 249,000 pieces of mail were cancelled as against 237,000 on the two peak days in 1936.

Although no figures are available on the amount of parcel post business, Homberger said both the incoming and outgoing mail in this classification was exceptionally heavy.

Of the 32 extra employes hired to help handle the Christmas rush, 10 are regular postoffice substitutes while the other 22 are men who have worked for the postoffice in other years, Homberger said.

Some of the extra help is being used at the postoffice to separate and cancel mail, while others are working on parcel post trucks. Eight trucks are in use in the delivery of packages, four owned by the postoffice, and four borrowed from the state highway department. From two to three men are assigned to each truck.

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — First-degree murder warrants were issued against five youths today in the deaths of Patrolmen Virgil Bayne and Gerald Bode.

Two other members of the "gang" also made statements regarding the slayings, police said.

Those charged were Carl Ferrito, 20; Anthony Liberatore, 17; Neal Palatonre, 19; Tony Gallina, 18, and Albert Lipp, 27.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Heirs of the late Frank Perrano, one-time Columbus saloon keeper, received a pleasant pre-Christmas shock today when a probate court report revealed the Perrano's estate, two weeks ago at approximately $30,000, actually totaled $224,620.

When court attaches opened Perranos safety deposit box they found $137,565 in cash, which apparently had been there for many years.

Under Perrano's will, the estate is to be shared by three nephews: Frank L. Perrano, Albert J. Perrano, and Stephen A. Perrano, all of Columbus.

Marlene Leaves Studio Paying Her $250,000 Per Movie.

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Marlene Dietrich, 33-year-old German star, parted company today with the studio which paid her $250,000 a picture for her blond charm.

That aroused immediate speculation whether the erstwhile "blue angel" ever would make another American film.

The rift between Miss Dietrich and her studio was disclosed in Paramount's announcement that it has "indefinitely postponed" filming of "French Without Tears."

The studio purchased the play at Miss Dietrich's request, she said, with reservations it would be her last American picture.

REFERENDUM ON WAR HIT BY STIMSON

Hoover Cabinet Member Holds House Measure Indicates 'Weakness of Policy.'

INJURES U. S. POSITION

Bill Would Disrupt National Unity, Ex-Secretary Says In Denouncing Plan.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state under President Hoover and Secretary of War under President Taft, declared in a letter to the New York Times today that a war referendum, such as the proposal to be debated in the house of representatives would destroy the present system of national defense.

"It is not the time for the exhibition of untried panaceas or any other evidence of instability of purpose," Stimson wrote in denouncing the plan sponsored by Rep. Louis Ludlow, D., Ind., and various peace societies.

Disrupts Unity.

"No more effective engine for the disruption of national unity on the threshold of a national crisis could ingeniously have been devised."

Stimson's opposition followed that expressed by President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Cordell Hull and former Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas, who was the 1936 Republican presidential nominee.

The referendum proposal provides for a constitutional amendment making any declaration of war by congress ineffective until confirmed by a majority popular vote, except in the case of an actual invasion of the United States or its territories.

Stimson declared that the mere bringing forward of the plan to its present status in congress—its supporters succeeded in placing it in position for a vote in the house—had injured this country's position in the world.

"It may be regarded among our neighbor nations," he wrote, "as indicating weakness of national policy and behavior at a time when stability and steadfastness are pre-eminently required."

TATARESCU WINS IN RUMANIA

Premier to Control New Chamber of Deputies, Vote Shows.

BUCHAREST, Rumania—(AP)—Complete election returns today indicated that Premier George Tatarescu, with a coalition of Rumania's democratic parties, would control the new chamber of deputies.

A marked increase in the strength of the pro-German All-For-Fatherland party (formerly the Fascist Iron Guard), however, was one of the surprises of Monday's election.

Observers had predicted the A. F. F. would win only 18 seats. Instead it gained third place in the nation by electing 62 deputies.

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—There's a bedroom atmosphere in night court where Magistrate Anthony Lucas is presiding in pajamas.

FIVE PETITIONS FILED ON CITY LIQUOR CURFEW

1,000 Church Members Urge Council to Continue Law; Union Urges Change.

City council had before it today five petitions and a resolution on the matter of closing hours for liquor dispensing establishments.

Four of the petitions and the resolution represented nearly 1,000 church members while the fifth petition, bearing 250 signatures, was presented by the Bartenders,' Waiter' and Waitresses' union.

The resolution, adopted by 450 members of the First M. E. church last Sunday, along with petitions from the First Lutheran church, Park Avenue Baptist church, United Presbyterian church of East Mansfield ask council to refrain from making any changes in the existing ordinance.

The petition of the bartenders' union seeks to have the present ordinance amended to conform with regulations of the state liquor board.

A representative of the union, appearing before council last night, asked that they consider the change to a 2:30 a. m. closing hour for night clubs as provided in the state regulations. He said that at least 50 persons engaged in the business would be forced out of employment through the loss of the one hour and a-half to night club holders.

He added that some consideration should be given to night club permit holders over ordinary permit holders because of the $1,000 fee they pay for permits.

The flood of petitions to council is the result of an order from Police Chief Meade K. Bates three weeks ago that after the first week in January, the 1 a. m. curfew provided in the city ordinance would be invoked.

WILL UPHELD

$500,000 'Stork Derby' Fund Okayed by Supreme Court.

OTTAWA, Ont.—(Canadian Press)—The supreme court of Canada today upheld the eccentric will of Charles Vance Millar, instigator of Toronto's unique "stork derby."

Millar's will provided that his estate, estimated in excess of $500,000, should go to the mother or mothers giving birth to the most children in Toronto between Oct. 31, 1926, and Oct. 31, 1936.

The supreme court left to Ontario courts the task of determining the mother or mothers entitled to the money, for which a dozen or more women have filed claims.

Validity of the will was questioned by two relatives of the wealthy Toronto lawyer. Arabella West and Alexander Butcher, the relatives, claimed the will was contrary to public policy.

ROOSEVELT TO ASK NATION TO END FEAR

Message to Congress to Claim Recession In U. S. Business Mostly Psychological.

NO RETREAT PLANNED

President Prepares Note to Lawmakers, Quitting With Program Unfinished.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Administration advisers said today President Roosevelt would make an aggressive bid for public confidence in his January message to congress, based on the contention the business recession is largely psychological.

They said the president would insist on his legislative program, but that he would propose no new "reforms." The message, they forecast, would contain a broad offer of co-operation with legitimate business, but no retreat from present regulations.

Criticizes 'Fear.'

The chief executive laid the groundwork for this approach in his press conference yesterday by asserting that a psychology of fear was being fostered by a large percentage of newspapers and a small minority of public utilities.

His accusation followed a secret conference with seven of his most loyal supporters in senate liberal ranks, in which he was authoritatively reported to have pledged no slackening of New Deal activities.

The list of those invited to the secret parley was regarded by observers as significant. It included Senators Morris (Ind., Neb.), LaFollette (Prog., Wis.), Norris (Ind., Neb.), Nye (R., N. D.), Minton (D., Ind.), Pepper (D., Fla.), Bankhead (D., Ala.), Moore (D., N. H.), and Green (D., R. I.)

Friends said the chief executive was gathering data to show the business slump was psychological rather than fundamental. This view had been expressed by several of the senator with whom he conferred.

Meets Industrialists.

This theme also was partially expounded in the president's press conference yesterday. He approached the subject by telling of his conference earlier in the day with Frank R. Phillips, president of the Duquesne Light company of Pittsburgh and William H. Taylor, president of the Philadelphia Electric company.

They had agreed, he said, that the federal government had not interfered with their industry in Philadelphia or Pittsburgh, but that fear was making it difficult

Nation Mourning Death of Kellogg, Ex.-U. S. Secretary

ST. PAUL—(AP)—Minnesota and the nation mourned today the death of Frank B. Kellogg, son of pioneer parents who raised himself to the heights of world statesmanship.

The former secretary of state, diplomat and world court judge died last night on the eve of his 81st birthday anniversary. He was stricken with cerebral thrombosis early last month. His physician, Dr. J. A. Lepak, said bronchial pneumonia which developed last Saturday was the immediate cause of his death.

With him at the end were Mrs. Kellogg, Dr. Lepak, household servants, and relatives.

During his long career in public life, Kellogg served as United States senator from Minnesota, ambassador to the court of St. James, secretary of state, and judge of the world court. He was named to the latter two posts by former President Calvin Coolidge.

It was while he was secretary of state that he joined Aristide Briand of France in authorship of the peace pact for which he was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1929.

He retired from the world court in 1935, after five years of service, and returned to his private law practice here.

Winter Arrives—Officially At Least—It's Shortest Day, Too

In case you've been too busy with your Christmas shopping to keep track of such things, today is the first day of winter.

Of course, there were a couple days earlier in the month that really looked like winter, but it was still officially just fall, despite the fact that there was snow on the ground and that the mercury went down to zero.

Winter began at 1:22 a. m. today, and did it in an unusualy mild way.

Weather Observer Otto Sprunger reported that the lowest reading for the past 24 hours was 35, which is 10 degrees above normal. The sun came out this morning and before noon the temperature had climbed to 39.

But by tomorrow, winter may really get going. At least the forecast calls for "much colder" weather tonight, with "rain changing to snow" scheduled for Thursday.

Winter will last just 89 days and one hour, four days less than the summer season, which lasted 93 days.

Beside being the first day of winter, today will also be one of the shortest days of the year, with only a few minutes more than nine hours of daylight. As the weather experts explain it, the sun today entered the sign of Capricorn and began the period of its southernmost declination. After today, the days will gradually get longer, and winter will come to an end March 21 at 1:45 a. m.

MAP BUILDING OF RESERVOIR NEAR GALION

Big Four Railway Officials Tell Council of Plan For Water Supply.

GALION—Big Four railroad officials were present Tuesday night at a meeting of city council to present proposed plans for construction of a large reservoir to be located east of Galion near the Charles Gelsanliter farm on the Mansfield road.

Three tentative plans discussed included that the railroad company would build the reservoir and in case of emergency the city would purchase its share of water; that the reservoir would be built jointly by Big Four and city; that the city would build the reservoir and the Big Four would pay for its share of water used. Mayor W. M. King appointed a committee composed of Lawrence Neumann, Thomas Maidens and W. H. Kunkel to consider the matter and make a report to council on its findings.

Officials Attending.

Council adopted the amounts and rates as determined by the budget commission of Crawford county on the city's estimated budget for 1938 for $34,311.73, placing the rate on general property tax at 3.80 within the 10-mill limitation for the general fund and the bond retirement. The rate last year was 4.30, a lower rate being realized this year on account of the school levy passed this fall.

Council also passed a supplemental annual appropriation ordinance for current expenses to complete the fiscal year ending Dec. 31, 1937. Amounts to be appropriated are $722, from the general fund to the safety fund; $250 from the general fund to the service fund; $250 from the service fund to pay for street repairs and $35 for office expenses, and the transfer of $500 from the gasoline tax fund to be taken from the street repairing pay roll account to the street cleaning pay roll account.

Ohio State Ranks With Leaders In Big Ten Grid Standings.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

OHIO STATE has won fewer football championships than a number of its conference rivals, but sports one of the very best records in the Big Ten. In the all-time conference standings, the Buckeyes rank second to Michigan, and if the Wolverines' football fortunes do not improve within the next couple of years, the Ohioans can overtake them. Ohio is also second in the standings of the last five years, next to Minnesota, but the Bukeyes hold the best Big Ten record since 1913 when they joined the conference Ohio has also compiled the best record for the last 10-year period. THE, 80,000 persons who will pack the Rose Bowl to capacity Jan. 1 will pay prices of $2.30, $4.40 and $5.50 for their tickets, highest in the history of the enterprise. And if they buy from the scalpers—well, they'll pay PLENTY. . . . Jim Miller, Shelby boy, who did such a fine job at Ohio State, is in line for a couple of pro jobs. . . . As the Big Ten rules read that no student shall participate in more than three years of intercollegiate athletics, John Rabb, Ohio State back, is likely to retain his eligibility for next fall. Rabb played two games as a Freshman at Fordham, but against prep schools. It might be difficult to define the freshman games against such opponents as intercollegiate contests.

J. Donald Budge Writes the 1937 Chapter of Tennis History

By BILL BONI

NEW YORK—(AP)—Follow the 1937 court career of J. Donald Budge, California's carrot-topped comet, and you virtually have read the history of American tennis for the year.

Don led the U. S. forces to their recapture of the Davis cup, added the Wimbledon singles, doubles and mixed doubles titles, won the U. S. singles, and thus gave the U. S. L. T. A. its most successful financial season since 1927. The Davis cup victory assured the appearance here in 1938 of some of the world's ace internationalists, and therefore another successful year. The danger that Budge might cash in on his fame after another season led to the establishment of "junior Davis Cup" training squads throughout the country.

Those were the major developments of the year just ending.

But Budge's personal efforts cannot be dismissed so summarily.

Successor to Fred Perry as the world's No. 1 player, he went unbeaten through his entire singles campaign, and did not lose any sort of match until he and Gene Mako bowed to Germany's crack combination of Baron Gottfried von Cramm and Henner Henkel in the U. S. doubles final.

On the way Budge swept aside Davis cup opposition by the stars of Japan, Australia, Germany and England, four of the top tennis nations. At Wimbledon he blasted his way through the singles field with the loss of only one set, and that to Davis Cup Teammate Frankie Parker. Back from the foreign wars, he won at Newport and Forest Hills, returned to the coast to win the Pacific Southwest and Pacific Coast championships, and at present is engaged in scope-widening exploits "down under" in Australia.

ANITA LIZANA . . . she beat the U. S. girls.

It was an amazing trail this debonair young Californian blazed. He has become debonair. That was another of the season's major developments. From a somewhat gawky, awkward-looking lad he has become metamorphosed into a gentleman who wears his well-cut flannels with true British aplomb.

Most sensational single performer besides Budge was another California product, chunky little Bobby Riggs of Los Angeles. Riggs, shooting for the No. 2 ranking spot during Don's Davis Cup absence, cleaned up everything in sight, including such major tourneys as the national clay courts, Southern, New England, Seabright, Meadow club and Eastern grass courts.

Twice, at Newport and in the Pacific Coast championship, he met Budge in the final. Each time the Wimbledon and U. S. champion proved too strong for him.

While Budge and his mates, Mako, Parker and Bitsy Grant—who accounted for a major development himself when he dubbed himself "yellow and a quitter" during the interzone finals—were sweeping all before them, the year was less successful from the ladies' standpoint.

The U. S. girls did retain the Wightman Cup with a smashing victory over the British, but the national singles crown went to South America for the first time in its history and out of the country for only the second time. Petite Anita Lizana of Chile was the survivor, gaining an upsettingly easy victory over hard-hitting Jadwiga Jedrzejowska of Poland, British women's champion, and succeeding Alice Marble on the American throne.

While this year's championships attracted the most strongly international entry lists ever, 1938 promises an even greater influx of foreign talent. The nation holding the Davis Cup always has the game's most powerful magnet to lure stars onto its courts and dollars into its tennis treasury.

BOBBY RIGGS . . . he beat everybody—except Budge.

Tygers are Underdogs In Cage Game On Canton McKinley Planks Tonight

THE twice-victorious cagers of Mansfield high school took to the road again today to continue their difficult schedule.

Coach Russ Murphy and a squad of 15 players, trainers and managers left early this afternoon for Canton where they will engage the veteran Bulldogs of McKinley high in their annual game.

Mansfield has not beaten the Canton court cavorters since the present series was opened two years ago, and the victory prospects are not encouraging for tonight.

The Bulldogs will not only hold a big physical advantage over the Tygers, but also have a big edge in experience. All of the players to start against the Tygers have seen at least one year of varsity service.

McKinley lost several fine athletes by graduation, but retains Carl Fiore, a sharp-shooting forward, and Nick Roman, a tall center. Both were regulars in the team which advanced to the state elimination last spring.

Charley Rotar and Bob Wolfe, who will hold down first-string posts tonight, were not regulars last season, but saw considerable service. Marion Motley, the other regular, played against Mansfield early last season, but was not with the team during the second semester due to ineligibility.

Murphy will undoubtedly use Freddy Lewis, Tom Scott, Elmer Dials, John Hallabrin, and Jack Lyons in the starting lineup for the Tygers.

The reserve team did not accompany the Tygers to Canton as the McKinley seconds had made previous arrangements for a game.

Changes Loom In 'A' League

Tonight's Results Can Upset Cage Standings.

A number of changes are likely to take place in the Y. M. C. A. Class A Church league tonight when play is resumed on the Y court.

First M. E. is the only undefeated club in the circuit, but the other teams are so closely bunched that one night of play can turn the standings topsy-turvy.

Although the Methodists are expected to find the Baptists troublesome, and an interesting game should result, the chief interest is held in the other tilts due to the closeness of the race.

If the favored Methodists should unexpectedly lose, it is possible for four teams to tie them for first place.

Starting at 7 p. m., the games tonight will send Mayflower against St. John's, First Lutheran against Episcopal, Temple M. E. against St. Paul's, First M .E. against Park Avenue Baptist and Central M. E. against United Presbyterian.

CHUCK ADDS 20 POINTS

Leads Toledo U. to 59-39 Victory Over Barnstorming Iowans.

TOLEDO—(U.P.)—University of Toledo's undefeated basketball team showed "Big Time" class last night when it won from the barnstorming University of Iowa team, 59 to 39. It was Toledo's fourth consecutive victory this season.

Charles Chuckovits, Toledo sensational point-maker, made 20 points on six field goals and eight fouls It brought his total scoring in the four games to 107 points.

Bowl Teams Prepare For New Year Games

WHILE many a college football player started the happy round of banquets that welcomes the hero home, "bowl" teams and the huskies of the East-West game opened the last nine days of vigorous practice for the New Year's day extra-season activities today.

Some were en route to the scene of the battle. Others were deep in the mousetraps and spinners that most of the boys are already forgetting. One lucky group was on vacation. Here's the situation on all fronts:

* * *

ROSE BOWL (Pasadena, Cal.)—The Golden Bears of California, the coast paladins, were diverting themselves with a long drill on blocking. This is in line with Coach Stub Allison's strict adherence to the fundamentals as the best method of readying his Pacific Coast champions for the fray.

California's opponent, Alabama, a Rose Bowl staple, was on the way. The Crimson Tide, never beaten at Pasadena, left Tuscaloosa yesterday.

SUGAR BOWL (New Orleans, La.)—Coach Bernie Moore of Louisiana State ordered earlier practices with the suspension of classes for the holidays. The Tigers stressed punting and passing as Moore planned to carry the attack through the air against Santa Clara of San Francisco.

COTTON BOWL (Ft. Worth, Tex.)—Minus the redoubtable Whizzer White, who won a Rhodes scholarship in California yesterday, the University of Colorado arrived 35 strong to start work for the game with Rice. Coach Burney Oakes was optimistic: "The extra week we're taking to get accustomed to this climate should put us in top condition" White will rejoin the squad Thursday or Friday.

ORANGE BOWL (Miami, Fla.)—Michigan State, 41 strong, is on the way to Miami from East Lansing. Coach Charlie Bachman sent his squad through a brief signal drill before departing. It was the Spartans' first real workout since they beat San Francisco on the coast, Nov. 29. The Auburn squad, the Spartans' foe on New Year's day, is vacationing until Dec. 27 when it will reassemble and get to work.

* * *

SUN BOWL (El Paso, Tex.)—West Virginia, held to light signal drills by inclement weather made final preparations for the trip from Morgantown, W. Va., to El Paso, today. Coach Marshall Glenn announced that 24 players will make the trip. Glenn was silent on prospects for the game with Texas Tech.

EAST-WEST (San Francisco)—The western football stars assembled at Stanford university to start work for the game and went through a light workout, including passing and kicking. Co-Coaches Biff Jones of Nebraska and Babe Hollingbery of Washington State were in charge. The eastern squad of 22 men, headed by Coaches Bernie Bierman of Minnesota and Andy Kerr of Colgate, arrived yesterday and will have its first real drill tomorrow.

Benny's Hi Notes and Rex Billiards, who are tied for first place, face tough opposition in senior league games scheduled at the Friendly House tonight.

The First Lutheran and Mayflower quintets chalked up victories last night at the Y. M. C. A. to remain deadlocked for first place in the Church Class B basketball league.

Rams Trim Union In Tough Battle

Madison Forced to Limit by Cellar Occupants to Win by 26 to 24 Count.

THE RAMS of Madison high registered their second Richland county basketball league triumph of the season last night by turning back a stubborn Union quintet, 26 to 24, on the Madison hardwood.

Coach Al Fendrick's athletes, trailing as the second half opened, unleashed an attack that gave them a lead they were able to hold through a thrilling last period.

Madison, favorites to down the last place Union team, found the going tough and the opening quarter ended in a 6-all deadlock. Union turned back the Rams without a point in the second stanza and went into the rest period holding a slim 8 to 6 advantage.

Fendrick's proteges started clicking in the third stanza and gained a 19 to 17 lead Both outfits tallied seven points in the last chapter.

Tolles led the individual scoring with 10 points and Bob and Bill Wilkins dropped in six apiece to pace the Rams.

In the preliminary attraction the Madison reserves edged Union, 13 to 7.

Ontario, defending champion, will also be in action in a non-league affair Thursday. Coach Orville Kibler's combine will entertain the Iberia quintet.

Parents to Urge Budge To Turn Pro

OAKLAND, Calif.—(AP)—The parents of Don Budge, world tennis champion who wants to remain an amateur long enough to defend the Davis cup, urged him today to turn pro and "reap some material benefit from years of hard work."

This unusual advice emanated from the family kitchen, where Mrs. John Budge was doing dishes. It found the racket star on an exhibition tour of Australia.

"When Donny returns home, his father's going to give him a good talking to," Mrs. Budge told an interviewer. "We're going to try and convince him that the wise thing to do would be to turn professional and reap some material benefit from years of hard work he has put into his tennis."

Baseball's "Grand Old Game"—Mack.

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Nearing his 75th birthday, Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, said today that baseball is a "grand, old game." "If you had to start over, Mr. Mack," he was asked, "would you be a doctor, a lawyer, a merchant, an actor, a playwright, an aviator, or what?"

"I'd go into the business I did—baseball," replied the "old gentleman" who will soon start his 55th season on the diamond. He will be 75 Thursday.

Stanford Coach Picks Bears Over Alabama.

PASADENA, Calif. —(AP)— Claude (Tiny) Thornhill, who has guided Stanford in three Rose Bowl games, today picked California to defeat Alabama in the New Year's day conflict. "Alabama seems to always have a good team. But—"

Thornhill paused. Maybe he was thinking the Crimson Tide's Kilgrow - Warren combination can not be as devastating as the Dixie Howell-Don Hutson Duo which wrecked his Stanfords, 29 to 13, in the 1935 Bowl game. "I believe California has too much power for Alabama," he concluded.

LEADERS FALL BACKWARD IN SLOW MARKET

Aircraft, Building Material Stocks Sag; Steels Resist Downward Movement.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Leaders tended backward in today's stock market as traders cashed in on profits of the last three sessions.

Declines were modest in most cases. Steels were resistant to the downward move but failed to hold in the plus column. Aircrafts, after early advances, sagged. A few building material stocks managed early gains but dropped back.

Bonds weer narrow, with U. S. treasury issues up a little. Commodities turned downward.

Analysts scanning overnight news for its market indications noted the "Iron Age" report that sentiment in the steel trade was "decidedly improved," and that "tangible evidences of a turn for the better are found in the conditions of consumers' stocks."

Early improvement in 1938, however, was likely to be moderate, the publication said.

A less than seasonal advance in electric power production for the week ended Dec. 18, as reported by the Edison Electric Institute. Department store sales in the New York metropolitan area for the first thirteen days of December ran 2.9 per cent above 1936, it was disclosed.

OHIO SEAMLESS PAYS DIVIDEND

Shelby Firm Names Cleveland Man New President to Succeed Mansfield.

The Ohio Seamless Tube company of Shelby today announced payment of a preferred stock dividend totalling $52.153 on 14,901 shares of stock outstanding. The dividend was $3.50 a share.

Payment was made Monday at a meeting of the board of directors in Shelby, it was revealed, in which William C. Connelly, Cleveland, was elected president of the company, succeeding Edwin C. Mansfield, of this city, who becomes chairman of the board, a position he formerly held.

The dividend payment was the first in five years, company officials said. Sales this year will approximate $3,500,000, it was said.

Connelly, the new president is a former president of the Connelly Boiler company, Cleveland. A well known Cleveland industrialist, he was elected a member of the board last February. He is a director of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, and a vice president and director of the Cleveland Citizens league. He was selected by the government as its technical advisor when proposed codes for the steam boiler and steam engine industries were drawn up under NRA.

Mansfield, retiring president, returns as chairman of the board of directors after an absence of six years from that position, which he held for two years. He has been on the board for a quarter of a century, becoming associated with the firm four years after it was organized in 1908.

Among the products of the company, all sold nationally, is aircraft tubing used by plane builders on the Pacific coast. It also makes seamless tubing for boilers and many other products.

MAPS DRIVE FOR U. S. CONFIDENCE

Roosevelt to Ask Nation to End 'Fear'; Drafts Message For Congress.

This fear, the president added, had been caused by a small minority of industry, which sought to give the impression the government was attacking all utilities.

Lawmakers Begin 12-Day Vacation.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Members of congress left the administration's special session program up in the air today and began a 12-day Christmas vacation that will defer enactment of major legislation until the new year.

The sudden adjournment at dusk yesterday, after the senate passed the housing bill 66 to 4, found none of President Roosevelt's recommendations actually written into law.

Administration leaders, however, contended the session had served a valuable purpose in finishing preliminary work on farm, housing and other administration measures. Final approval of these will be sought at the regular session convening Jan. 3.

Democratic Leader Barkley (D.-Ky.) asserted the session had clipped from six weeks to two months off the regular 1938 session. The Republican leader, Senator McNary of Oregon, predicted the regular session would end in May "if the president doesn't keep sending new recommendations to congress."

McNary, however, asserted the special session was a failure and that it "did not in any way carry out the program of the president."

Committeemen Leave.

Leaders originally had intended to wind up the five-week session today so that a joint conference committee could adjust differences in the house and senate housing bills before adjournment. Some of the men appointed to the committee, however, were among the many members who already had gone home, necessitating postponement of final action until January.

Farm legislation, key item on the administration program, is in the same status as the housing legislation. Crop control bills passed both houses, and now are before a conference committee which will meet late next week.

Barkley predicted both the farm and housing measures would be sent to the White House almost immediately after the regular session convenes.

Another Roosevelt recommendation—establishment of wage and hour standards—was salted away in the house labor committee because of a house vote to recommit it "for further study." That revolt, was the greatest legislative setback for the administration since the court bill was sidetracked last summer.

Recommittal usually is tantamount to killing a measure, but friends of the wage-hour bill expressed the hope it might be resurrected by a new presidential request for enactment.

ORDERS PROBE OF HEALY DEATH

Physician Refuses to Sign Death Certificate; Sees Evidence of Beating.

ment, who attended her, informed her of Healy's death.

"She had nothing to say," the doctor related.

The coroner ordered Healy's body removed from the undertaker's where it had been embalmed in the belief that he had died of heart trouble. An autopsy will disclose whether his skull had been fractured.

Police hunted his assailant, but in traveling the unsteady route that Healy took Sunday night and early Monday morning after he had looked fondly at his sleeping infant in the hospital maternity ward, they could discover only that Healy had celebrated not wisely, but too well.

There were reports that Healy had engaged in a terrific fight at the Trocadero, rendezvous of the movie stars.

H. W. Hoffman, manager of the Trocadero, said Healy had arrived there about 1:15 a. m. but had been drinking so heavily that attendants put him into a taxicab instead of selling him another whisky.

"Healy was a good friend of ours and there positively was no rough stuff," Hoffman said.

Man Mountain Dean, the behemoth wrestler, who accompanied Healy to a Hollywood doctor's office for treatment, reported he had been standing in front of the Plaza hotel at 2:30 a. m. when a taxicab rolled up and the comedian staggered out. He was bleeding from a cut over one eye.

Dean said Healy blurted out an incoherent story that he had been struck at the Trocadero cafe, but was in such a condition he did not know who had hit him.

Other reports said Healy's fight had occurred at the Beverly Wilshire hotel, home of many a movie star, but clerks denied that he had been in any trouble there.

Two Days To Go, Salvation Army Kettles Simmer

Unless the Salvation Army kettles on Mansfield sidewalks boil more lustily during the two remaining days before Christmas, there will be 100 disappointed children in the city Christmas morning, Adjt. D. R. Brown predicted today.

"Receipts from the kettles are running about the same as last year when $300 was taken in," Adjt. Brown said, "but we have 100 more needy boys and girls on our lists this Christmas."

At 75 cents each, the estimated cost of each child's toys and candy, the Salvation Army will need $75 more by Friday if the boys and girls are to have their stockings filled Christmas morning. Last year, holiday "treats" were provided for 350 youngsters.

Four of the Army kettles, attended by men and women from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., are receiving holiday funds in the city, Brown said. Gifts purchased with the donations are distributed Friday afternoon at the Salvation Army headquarters, 47 South Main street.

BOARD TABLES RAW MILK BAN

Measure Calling For Complete Pasteurization of City Supply Sidetracked.

he said. "It seems to me that we should take the final action on the issue and either turn it down or pass it.

"Are we going to turn around and run?" he asked. "Are we afraid to act on it now?"

"What is that a challenge?" Bierly demanded.

"Well, I'm for taking a definite stand and not letting the thing be thrown to the winds," Dr. Buhr retorted. "The proposal has gained widespread interest within the past 30 days and I think we should take a definite stand and every one of us vote according to his own convictions. Let's vote on the proposal and show where we stand."

Bierly objected strenuously to the measure since it was introduced several months ago.

"If it's of such widespread interest, then let us not take an arbitrary stand," he said.

Bierly contended throughout the various board discussions of the question that by approving the measure, was "making arbitrary use of its authority by playing into the hands of a few."

At this point, Aderman entered the discussion.

Says Enforcement Needed.

"What we need is strict enforcement of the present ordinance calling for a grade A raw milk," he said. "If the present ordinance had been enforced as it should have been, we would not have this issue before us tonight," he told board members.

"I am not afraid to vote—but I say, leave the market open to raw milk, and let the health department see that we get grade A milk, as provided under the existing law."

Bierly asked members if they thought that there had been an earnest effort to enforce regulations under the present ordinance.

"If not," he said, "then what do our inspections mean?"

Dr. Buhr agreed that it was the fault of the health board and the health department that the regulations had not been enforced.

"That's another absurdity," Bierly stated. "We admit that the present ordinance is not effectively enforced and yet we want to go to other extremes.

"I'm not in favor of any swivel chair regulations. Our progress will be greater if we enforce the present ordinance."

Dr. Roy C. Rehder, public health commissioner and secretary of the board admitted that the regulations under the present ordinance have never been carried out to the letter.

Promises Grade 'A' Milk.

"You gentlemen have agreed that we should have grade 'A' raw milk in Mansfield and that's what you'll get," he promised.

He said that in order to be fair to the producers, the grading period that expires Jan. 1, would be extended until April 1, when all the grade 'A' regulations would be invoked.

"There will be no fun producing grade 'A' raw milk either," he added. Dr. Rehder asserted that it was possible to add another sanitary officer to the staff if necessary to carry out the provisions in the ordinance.

The existing ordinance under which milk is now being distributed in Mansfield calls for grade 'A' raw milk, certified or grade 'A' and 'B' pasteurized. It prohibits the sale of lower grades except during a degrading period with the proper labeling.

Aderman also told the board that various provisions in the ordinance were not being invoked such as the posting of signs in restaurants designating the grade of milk sold and identification numbers and name of retailers delivering on the streets.

Mayor McFarland explained that police were at the disposal of the health department in order to assist in invoking the law if necessary.

At the suggestion of Neil S. Robinson, president of the Richland county Raw Milk Producer-Distributors' association, who attended the meeting, the health commissioner agreed to hold several meetings with the milk dealers before April 1 to explain regulations set forth in the ordinance.

LOS ANGELES — (U.P.) — While most boys his age were looking forward to Christmas vacations from high school, Nick Megugorac, 15, was held in jail today under life sentence for murder.

Superior Judge Dudley Valentine, who sentenced him yesterday, was reported to be ill "and too badly broken up by the case to talk about it."

The judge presided over domestic relations court for years, disposing of the cases of minors and he took a deep interest in Nick's fate. He said of the verdict against the boy: "Even I was surprised." The boy was convicted of slaying a service station man during a holdup.

Empire to Spend $250,000 for Improvements

SHEET STEEL MILLS TO BE MODERNIZED

Program Calls For Installation of Mechanized Units and 3 Heating Furnaces.

WILL TAKE THREE MONTHS

Changes to Help Firm Meet Demands of Competitive Market, Hill Says.

The Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company today announced a $250,000 construction program, to be undertaken immediately, to modernize and increase its sheet producing facilities.

The improvement, announced by James M. Hill, president of the company, will be completed and ready for operation in about three months. It consists of installation of a mechanized unit of three mills and three heating furnaces, together with auxillary equipment.

Broadens Facilities.

With the completion of this installation, Empire will be in a better position to meet the demands of a competitive market, Hill explained, particularly in the lines of flat-rolled products which they now produce, such as porcelain enamel and lacquer finishes used in the manufacture of refrigerators, stoves, cabinets, stokers, air conditioning equipment and in the automotive industry.

In addition, the new units will broaden the company's facilities for the manufacture of special sheets used in the fabrication of electrical equipment, Hill added.

Installation of the machinery and furnaces will be under the supervision of George R. Roemer, chief engineer.

Part of Program.

The construction announced today is part of the company's rehabilitation program which in the last year has seen the installation of two new 125-ton open hearth furnaces of the latest and most modern design. Smaller furnaces have been enlarged for the pouring of larger heats of steel.

Operations at Empire, in keeping with those of steel mills throughout the industry have been sharply curtailed in the past 90 days, but in the last three quarters of 1937, production exceeded that of the same period last year, Hill said.

Under normal conditions, Empire employs 1,700 men and has an annual payroll of $3,000,000.

HITLER BOWS

Places Wreath at Grave of Ludendorff, War Hero.

MUNICH—(AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler himself laid a wreath today at the brilliant military funeral for World war General Erich Ludendorff.

No one of military, political or economic rank in Nazi Germany was missing at the ceremonies before Field Marshal's hall for the general who had been Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg's chief of staff in the World war.

The rites were the most impressive since the burial in 1934 of von Hindenburg, who had become Germany's president. Ludendorff died Monday at the age of 72.

Hitler walked directly behind the coffin in the procession from Victory arch to the hall where state obsequies were held.

Post Mortem Ordered In Death of Ted Healy

Police Learn Movie Star Beaten In Celebrating Birth of Son.

CHECK NIGHT CLUBS

Doctor Refuses to Sign Death Certificate as He Finds Bruises.

HOLLYWOOD — (UP) — A thorough post mortem examination of the body of Ted Healy, happy-go-lucky vaudevillian and widely popular movie comedian, was ordered today. Authorities possessed some evidence to indicate his death had not been due to natural causes.

Healy, who spent his boyhood days in Canton and Columbus, O., died suddenly yesterday and it was at first announced that death had been due to a "stroke." But his physician, Dr. Wyland Lamont, refused to sign a certificate setting forth the cause of death. He had found a large welt over one eye, indicating that a severe blow administered by a person or persons unknown might have been at least a contributing factor in his death.

Celebrates Birth of Son.

Authorities immedlately began an investigation. They found out first that last Friday, Healy's young wife gave birth to a son and that Sunday Healy had set out to celebrate.

Sunday night, they learned, Healy had been seen in many of Hollywood's best known drinking places, including the Trocadero, the Brown Derby, and Clara Bow's "It" cocktail room. He talked long and loudly, like other fathers have since time began, about the merits of his new son.

Somewhere along his route, they surmised, another reveler, as yet unidentified, objected. Healy and his self-appointed critic argued, then fought, and Healy fell, with blood streaming from his temple. A doctor treated him for the wound, and, sobered, repentant and ashamed, he went home and said nothing about it.

Monday he suffered one convulsion after another. There was frequent vomiting—all symptoms of a fractured skull or brain concussion. Finally, when a physician was brought in for the second time, it was too late.

Told of Death.

His young wife's joy over birth of John Jacob Healy was changed to grief last night when Dr. La-

Federal Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger, of Milwaukee, against whom charges of being "arbitrary, unjust and unfair" were made by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, is pictured above. COLLEGE YOUTH DIES IN CRASH

James Spayde, Butler, Killed In Early Morning Mishap on Ashland Street.

(By Staff Correspondent)

ASHLAND—James Spayde, 18, a freshman at Ashland college, died this morning in Samaritan hospital from injuries suffered in an auto accident at 2 a. m. today. He was Ashland county's 29th traffic victim of the year, and the fifth of the month.

The car in which Spayde, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Spayde of Butler, and Edgar Koehl, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Koehl, sr., of Ashland, were returning to Ashland crashed into a parked truck on Cottage street. It was not immediately established who was driving the car at the time of the accident. The auto was completely demolished.

Spayde suffered a fractured right leg, skull fracture and cuts and bruises. Koehl, a student at the University of Wisconsin, whose father is the president of the Ashland Printing company, publishers of the Ashland Times-Gazette, suffered a broken arm and cuts about the head. His condition was reported at the hospital as "good."

Spayde is survived by his parents and a brother, William of Ashland. He was a member of the Butler Evangelical church.

The body was sent to Butler.

20 CRUSHED AS CASTLE FALLS

Ancient Italian Structure Collapses, Tumbles Onto Homes.

FORLI, Italy—(AP)—A medieval castle atop a cliff in the village of Civittella Di Romagna collapsed early today and tumbled onto homes lying below, crushing possibly 20 persons while they slept.

Five bodies were recovered by firemen and soldiers. Four persons were removed alive, three of them injured. Eight families were unaccounted for.

Recent heavy rains were thought to have weakened foundations of the castle.

Council Takes First Step To Untangle Remy Avenue Puzzle

The much-discussed Remy avenue puzzle, where sidewalks are from 18 inches to three feet higher than the street, was on its way to be untangled today.

Council last night requested City Solicitor Herbert H. Schettler to prepare legislation calling for the lowering of the walks and appropriating $600 for the job, after George Berg, chairman of the street committee, presented a petition signed by nine property owners.

Two citizens from Remy avenue told council that they had terraced and sodded their lawns and built new steps since the sidewalk had been laid.

"We do not think we should have to stand the cost of the changes," they said. "The present situation is no fault of ours."

Councilman-at-Large James E. Crum asked City Engineer W. C. Statler why the walks were not laid to the established grade.

Statler explained that residents on the street wanted the walks laid before the street was graded and rather than lay the sidewalks to the grade, which would have been below the street, he said his office set the stakes for WPA, which did the construction work.

He added that the stakes were set up at the request of several of the property owners.

"The request seemed reasonable so we set them where they wanted them," Statler said. He pointed out that there were other streets where the sidewalk was above the street, and for this reason, they did not hesitate about setting the stakes.

The Remy avenue sidewalks were constructed over a year ago.

Michael Petrushka is a Cleveland mail carrier, but he might just as well be one in Mansfield, or practically anywhere in the country, because at this time of year, they all have extra heavy packs. Holiday mail here and elsewhere has broken all records. Mail carriers were gritting their teeth and carrying on. Just two more days of it after today, and then things would get back to normal.

POSTAL RUSH EXCEEDS 1936

12,000 More Cards Handled In First Two Days of Week Than Last Year.

Mansfield's postoffice staff, assisted by 32 extra men, waded through one of the city's heaviest Christmas mails in history today.

Cancellation records for the first two days of the week showed 12,000 more cards and letters were handled than during the some period last year, the best in the postoffice's history, Postmaster Herman E. Homberger said.

Monday and Tuesday 249,000 pieces of mail were cancelled as against 237,000 on the two peak days in 1936.

Although no figures are available on the amount of parcel post business, Homberger said both the incoming and outgoing mail in this classification was exceptionally heavy.

Of the 32 extra employes hired to help handle the Christmas rush, 10 are regular postoffice substitutes while the other 22 are men who have worked for the postoffice in other years, Homberger said.

Some of the extra-help is being used at the postoffice to separate and cancel mail, while others are working on parcel post trucks. Eight trucks are in use in the delivery of packages, four owned by the postoffice, and four borrowed from the state highway department. From two to three men are assigned to each truck.

CHARGE 5 IN POLICE MURDER

Detectives File First Degree Warrants Against Quintet.

CLEVELAND — (UP) — First-degree murder warrants were issued against five youths today in the deaths of Patrolmen Virgil Bayne and Gerald Bode.

Detectives said one of the youths admitted he participated in the shooting at a service station last Saturday night.

Two other members of the "gang" also made statements regarding the slayings, police said.

Those charged were Carl Ferrito, 20, Anthony Liberatore, 17, Neal Palatonre, 19; Tony Gallina, 18, and Albert Lipp, 27.

Saloon Keeper's Estate Turns Out To Be $224,000

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Heirs of the late Frank Perrano, one-time Columbus saloon keeper, received a pleasant pre-Christmas shock today when a probate court report revealed the Perrano's estate, two weeks ago at approximately $30,000, actually totaled $224,620.

When court attaches opened Perranos safety deposit box they found $137,565 in cash, which apparently had been there for many years.

Under Perrano's will, the estate is to be shared by three nephews: Frank L. Perrano, Albert J. Perrano, and Stephen A. Perrano, all of Columbus.

DIETRICH QUITS

Marlene Leaves Studio Paying Her $250,000 Per Movie.

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Marlene Dietrich, 33-year-old German star, parted company today with the studio which paid her $250,000 a picture for her blond charm.

That aroused immediate speculation whether the erstwhile "blue angel" ever would make another American film.

The rift between Miss Dietrich and her studio was disclosed in Paramount's announcement that it has "indefinitely postponed" filming of "French Without Tears."

The studio purchased the play at Miss Dietrich's request, she said, with reservations it would be her last American picture.

KILLED BY SHOT FIRED FROM CAR

Steubenville Man Dies on Way Home From Party.

STEUBENVILLE—(AP)— Daniel Visnick, 28, was killed by a shotgun fired from an automobile as he left a party today with Daniel Rackinac, 26.

Rackinac, held at county jail for investigation, said he also was marked for death, Chief Deputy Samuel Gaylord declarer.

The deputy said Rackinac, about 20 feet ahead of Visnick when they left Trombetti Hall to get into their automobile, told of falling to the ground when the assassins opened fire on Visnick. He did not see how many men were in the automobile, Gaylord quoted him.

REFERENDUM ON WAR HIT BY STIMSON

Hoover Cabinet Member Holds House Measure Indicates 'Weakness of Policy.'

INJURES U. S. POSITION

Bill Would Disrupt National Unity, Ex-Secretary Says In Denouncing Plan.

NEW YORK—(UP)—Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state under President Hoover and Secretary of War under President Taft, declared in a letter to the New York Times today that a war referendum, such as the proposal to be debated in the house of representatives would destroy the present system of national defense.

"It is not the time for the exhibition of untried panaceas or any other evidence of instability of purpose," Stimson wrote in denouncing the plan sponsored by Rep. Louis Ludlow, D., Ind., and various peace societies.

Disrupts Unity.

"No more effective engine for the disruption of national unity on the threshold of a national crisis could ingeniously have been devised."

Stimson's opposition followed that expressed by President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Cordell Hull and former Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas, who was the 1936 Republican presidential nominee.

The referendum proposal provides for a constitutional amendment making any declaration of war by congress ineffective until confirmed by a majority popular vote, except in the case of an actual invasion of the United States or its territories.

Stimson declared that the mere bringing forward of the plan to its present status in congress—its supporters succeeded in placing it in position for a vote in the house—had injured this country's position in the world.

"It may be regarded among our neighbor nations," he wrote, "as indicating weakness of national policy and behavior at a time when stability and steadfastness are pre-eminently required."

Japs Bomb Seaport.

SHANGHAI —(AP)— Japanese bombers roared today over the industrial seaport of Tsingtao, where three United States warships stood by to evacuate the 300 Americans there if necessary.

United States consular authorities advised Americans to leave as fears increased that Japanese would attack the city in retaliation for destruction of Japanese cotton mills by Chinese troops. The U. S. cruiser Marblehead, the destroyer Pope and gunboat Sacramento were in the harbor.

TATARESCU WINS IN RUMANIA

Premier to Control New Chamber of Deputies, Vote Shows.

BUCHAREST, Rumania—(AP)—Complete election returns today indicated that Premier George Tatarescu, with a coalition of Rumania's democratic parties, would control the new chamber of deputies.

A marked increase in the strength of the pro-German All-For-Fatherland party (formerly the Fascist Iron Guard), however, was one of the surprises of Monday's election.

Observers had predicted the A. F. F. would win only 18 seats. Instead it gained third place in the nation by electing 62 deputies.

Wears P.J.'s To Court Sessions

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—There's a bedroom atmosphere in night court where Magistrate Anthony Lucas is presiding in pajamas.

Police said they wanted a magistrate immediately available at all hours during a Christmas season crusade against drunken drivers.

So Lucas moved a bed into a downtown police station and retires between hearings.

FIVE PETITIONS FILED ON CITY LIQUOR CURFEW

1,000 Church Members Urge Council to Continue Law; Union Urges Change.

City council had before it today five petitions and a resolution on the matter of closing hours for liquor dispensing establishments.

Four of the petitions and the resolution represented nearly 1,000 church members while the fifth petition, bearing 250 signatures, was presented by the Bartenders, Waiter' and Waitresses' union.

The resolution, adopted by 450 members of the First M. E. church last Sunday, along with petitions from the First Lutheran church, Park Avenue Baptist church, United Presbyterian church of East Mansfield ask council to refrain from making any changes in the existing ordinance.

The petition of the bartenders' union seeks to have the present ordinance amended to conform with regulations of the state liquor board.

A representative of the union, appearing before council last night, asked that they consider the change to a 2:30 a. m. closing hour for night clubs as provided in the state regulations. He said that at least 50 persons engaged in the business would be forced out of employment through the loss of the one hour and a-half to night club holders.

He added that some consideration should be given to night club permit holders over ordinary permit holders because of the $1,000 fee they pay for permits.

The flood of petitions to council is the result of an order from Police Chief Meade K. Bates three weeks ago that after the first week in January, the 1 a. m. curfew provided in the city ordinance would be invoked.

WILL UPHELD

$500,000 'Stork Derby' Fund Okayed by Supreme Court.

OTTAWA, Ont.—(Canadian Press)—The supreme court of Canada today upheld the eccentric will of Charles Vance Millar, instigator of Toronto's unique "stork derby."

Millar's will provided that his estate, estimated in excess of $500,000, should go to the mother or mothers giving birth to the most children in Toronto between Oct. 31, 1926, and Oct. 31, 1936.

The supreme court left to Ontario courts the task of determining the mother or mothers entitled to the money, for which a dozen or more women have filed claims.

Validity of the will was questioned by two relatives of the wealthy Toronto lawyer. Arabella West and Alexander Butcher, the relatives, claimed the will was contrary to public policy.

Winter Arrives—Officially At Least—It's Shortest Day, Too

In case you've been too busy with your Christmas shopping to keep track of such things, today is the first day of winter.

Of course, there were a couple days earlier in the month that really looked like winter, but it was still officially just fall, despite the fact that there was snow on the ground and that the mercury went down to zero.

Winter began at 1:22 a. m. today, and did it in an unusually mild way.

Weather Observer Otto Sprunger reported that the lowest reading for the past 24 hours was 35, which is 10 degrees above normal. The sun came out this morning and before noon the temperature had climbed to 39.

But by tomorrow, winter may really get going. At least the forecast calls for "much colder" weather tonight, with "rain changing to snow" scheduled for Thursday.

Winter will last just 89 days and one hour, four days less than the summer season, which lasted 93 days.

Beside being the first day of winter, today will also be one of the shortest days of the year, with only a few minutes more than nine hours of daylight. As the weather experts explain it, the sun today entered the sign of Capricorn and began the period of its southernmost declination. After today, the days will gradually get longer, and winter will come to an end March 21 at 1:45 a. m.

ROOSEVELT TO ASK NATION TO END 'FEAR'

Message to Congress to Claim Recession In U. S. Business Mostly Psychological.

NO RETREAT PLANNED

President Prepares Note to Lawmakers, Quitting With Program Unfinished.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Administration advisers said today President Roosevelt would make an aggressive bid for public confidence in his January message to congress, based on the contention the business recession is largely psychological.

They said the president would insist on his legislative program, but that he would propose no new "reforms." The message, they forecast, would contain a broad offer of co-operation with legitimate business, but no retreat from present regulations.

Criticizes 'Fear.'

The chief executive laid the groundwork for this approach in his press conference yesterday by asserting that a psychology of fear was being fostered by a large percentage of newspapers and a small minority of public utilities.

His accusation followed a secret conference with seven of his most loyal supporters in senate liberal ranks, in which he was authoritatively reported to have pledged no slackening of New Deal activities.

The list of those invited to the secret parley was regarded by observers as significant. It included Senators Norris (Ind., Neb.), LaFollette (Prog., Wis.), Schwellenbach (D., Wash.), Minton (D., Ind.), Pepper (D., Fla.), Brown (D., N. H.), and Green (D., R. I.)

Friends said the chief executive was gathering data to show the business slump was psychological rather than fundamental. This view had been expressed by several of the senator with whom he conferred.

Meets Industrialists.

This theme also was partially expounded in the president's press conference yesterday. He approached the subject by telling of his conference earlier in the day with Frank R. Phillips, president of the Duquesne Light company of Pittsburgh and William H. Taylor, president of the Philadelphia Electric company.

They had agreed, he said, that the federal government had not interfered with their industry in Philadelphia or Pittsburgh, but that fear was making it difficult.

Nation Mourning Death of Kellogg, Ex.-U. S. Secretary

ST. PAUL—(AP)—Minnesota and the nation mourned today the death of Frank B. Kellogg, son of pioneer parents who raised himself to the heights of world statesmanship.

The former secretary of state, diplomat and world court judge died last night on the eve of his 81st birthday anniversary. He was stricken with cerebral thrombosis early last month. His physician, Dr. J. A. Lepak, said bronchial pneumonia which developed last Saturday was the immediate cause of his death.

With him at the end were Mrs. Kellogg, Dr. Lepak, household servants, and relatives.

During his long career in public life, Kellogg served as United States senator from Minnesota, ambassador to the court of St. James, secretary of state, and judge of the world court. He was named to the latter two posts by former President Calvin Coolidge.

It was while he was secretary of state that he joined Aristide Briand of France in authorship of the peace pact for which he was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1929.

He retired from the world court in 1935, after five years of service, and returned to his private law practice here.

ASSAILANT OF G-MAN JAILED

Hoover Says Suspect Admits Shooting and Sending of Extortion Letter.

WASHINGTON — (AP)— Director J. Edgar Hoover of the federal bureau of investigation has announced that Woodrow Wilson Price, Independence, Mo., has been arrested in connection with the shooting of Special Agent Henry A. Snow there Dec. 6. Hoover said Price confessed the shooting and to an extortion attempt.

Hoover said the shotgun with which Snow was critically wounded when he sought to trap an extortionist was recovered from Price. The weapon Hoover said, is now held by the FBI.

An extortion letter, demanding $500 and accompanied with threats, was mailed to Howard B. Jacobs of Independence several days before Snow was wounded.

Hoover said that Sheriff James A. Williams of Jackson county, Mo., who last week demanded a grand jury investigation of FBI agents and said "To Hell with J. Edgar Hoover," had arrested Price and released him last week after questioning.

Price, 23, is married and the father of two small children.

Canton Man Admits Lamb Theft; Ashlander Denies Charge.

COLUMBUS — (AP)—Harold G. Riley of Canton, an ex-convict, has pleaded guilty before Criminal Court Judge Robert P. Duncan to the theft of lambs from the Franklin county farm of former Attorney General Edward C. Turner. Judge Duncan said he would sentence Riley to a one to 10 years prison term.

Ray E. Ross of Ashland county, indicted with Riley, pleaded innocent to a similar charge.

Five Cleveland youths, all with police records, were held by authorities for questioning in the double slaying of Patrolmen Virgil T. Bayne and Gerald N. Bode at a Cleveland filling station. The five admitted, in signed statements, they were present at the service station at the time but denied firing any shots. The five, pictured here, are Albert A. Lipp, 27; Anthony M. Gallino, 18; Carl J. Ferrito, 20; Neal Palatrone, 18, and Anthony D. Liberatore, 20. Patrolmen Bayne and Bode, assigned to the station following robbery attempts, were in plain clothes and were shot as they attempted to "frisk" and question several youths in a big car which had appeared at the station at about the same time they reported for duty.

The annual Christmas vacation for students in the Madison township elementary and high schools began this afternoon as all schools were dismissed following their daily schedule. Classes in the schools will be resumed again Monday, Jan. 3.

The program was in charge of Anita McLaughlin, president of the group, and Miss Gladys McDonald, faculty advisor.

REMEMBER THAT NIGHT

By MARGARET GORMAN NICHOLS

CHAPTER XIII

"It's my fault! Not yours!" Tommy shrugged. "Oh, well, I'm going to Paris and forget it. On the next boat."

"You love Marion," Karen said simply.

"I never realized how much until now." He gave a short bitter laugh. "Philip's a genius. He told me there were still a few things money couldn't buy. He's sore at me, too. I tried to get him on the phone this morning but his man said he was out of town. He hasn't sailed. Just out of town for a few days."

Turning his head, his eyes met hers. "How about coming to Paris with me? Marry me and come along. What have you got to lose? At least you can make the people who've snubbed you bite the dust. I'd help you."

"You don't mean what you're saying, Tommy."

"Take me up on it and see! We'd be a great comfort to each other. You're in love with Philip and Philip loves Lilyan. If she were a villainess, you might have a chance. But she isn't. She's a swell girl and she's as crazy about him as he is about her. It's perfect.

"I've got money," Tommy said bitterly, "and you've got beauty. The two go together. You'll never get anywhere trying to go on the stage. And if you still want to be an actress when we come back, I'll buy you a play and rent a theater. Money can still do a few things."

She put her hand on his arm. "Stop talking like that. You only want to spite Marion's mother. Thank you for the cold-blooded proposition, but I'm not interested. You see, I'm something else money can't buy. Take me home and try to see Marion and her mother again."

In the lobby of the apartment house he said, "Now you know what I meant when I said I wished I had known you before. I thought everything was all set between Marion and me until that night on the roof with Philip when I saw you. Then I got mixed up. But I knew I didn't have a chance with you. Philip must love Lilyan a lot not to see how you feel about him—not to see what a swell girl you are, Karen."

* * *

Lying next to the sleeping Roxanne, Karen thought with a smile, "Tonight I was offered Tommy's millions and his name. And I wasn't tempted even a little."

Wearing a blue dress and a wide black hat the next afternoon, she went to the hotel Tommy had mentioned and called Marion from downstairs.

"I'm Karen Mallare. I'd like to see you."

"But I've no desire to see you!" the angry voice came back. "Haven't you done enough?"

"I've done nothing," Karen said. "But if you don't see me, I'll marry Tommy today. You told him to give me the ring and the house and the money. Last night he offered them to me. If you don't see me, I'll take them!"

Instantly Marion Leland's voice was subdued.

"Very well. Come up."

Marion wore a printed dress with a diamond pin at her throat. Tall, slender, and dark-haired, she looked at Karen coldly and asked her to sit down.

But Karen said, "No. It won't take me very long to say what I came to say."

"Fortunately my mother is out. She'd never have admitted you. Are you going to marry Tommy?"

"That depends on you," Karen said. "He doesn't love me. Tommy loves you. He loves you because you took the trouble to look beneath the playboy surface and see that in spite of his money, he's never been a happy boy and he didn't have a normal childhood. Just one school after another. And he loves you because he knows you don't care about his money. He told me last night—told me and asked me to marry him."

"And of course you will!" Marion Leland flared. "It's the chance of a lifetime! Dozens of girls have tried to marry him. I wonder how he's escaped this long!"

"I'll tell you. Because in the back of his mind he knew that one day he was going back to Maryland and ask you to marry him."

Beneath the brim of the becoming wide black hat, Karen looked at her gravely. "I was just a new face to him the first night he saw me, and maybe he thought he'd have a last fling. I didn't see the newspapers. I—I haven't been reading them since—some one I knew and liked a lot—disappeared. I was free and Tommy was free, I thought. I couldn't see any harm in going to his party. It wasn't given for me. He's proud of his place on Long Island and wanted to show it off. He bought it for you."

Warm sunlight poured through the broad window on the red sofa upon which Marion was sitting. Nervously she toyed with a little silver bracelet on her arm.

"Then why didn't he invite me to his party?" she asked. "He didn't tell me anything about it. Somebody wrote me."

Karen said, "He should have. If you love him, you won't give him up and let him marry me for the one mistake he's made. Tommy is like a lively terrier that needs a leash."

Marion lowered her eyes and said, "If I love him? . . . I do. All my life I've looked forward to his visits to Maryland. Every time his name was linked with an actress or a chorus girl I was crazy with jealousy for fear he'd marry her. When I was sixteen, I prayed to grow up quickly so that I could marry him before he married some one else."

She looked at Karen. "Yes, I did look beneath the playboy surface. I know he's irresponsible and unstable but you can understand it when you know he'd never had a care or a responsibility in his life. Just money. And people who liked him just for that. I got to know the real Tommy riding with him over his farm in early morning . . ."

"Then see him and tell him. He's miserable."

Marion looked down at the finger from which she had torn her engagement ring last night.

"Mother won't let me see him! She made me promise I wouldn't call him. We're going home tonight and she's going to take me away. Tomorrow there will be a formal breaking of the engagement. Oh, I've been nearly crazy!"

Her smile was wistful and apologetic. "I'm so sorry about last night. Sorry and ashamed. Please forgive me. You're not at all what I—I expected you to be."

Karen smiled. "I'm a working girl. But I happen to work on a hotel roof and wear an evening dress. That's supposed to make me wicked and glamorous."

"And if I don't marry Tommy, you will?"

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1937.

Too late now for early shopping—all that remains is to join in the rush.

Class controversies are very simple. It's always the other fellows that are making the trouble.

A Massachusetts legislator has introduced a bill to revive the stocks, ducking stool and whipping post for drunken drivers—but this may merely be a hasty decision reached after seeing a mangled victim.

To Guard City's Milk Supply.

DISCUSSION of the comparative merits of raw and pasteurized milk, by the board of health and milk producers, during the past several months, has served to make Mansfield people more "milk conscious" than ever before.

That there are conflicting views on this subject, even among those who have given the matter much study, is obvious.

There are those who contend that all milk should be pasteurized, in order that various disease-producing bacteria will be made harmless. Others are of the belief that milk from healthy cows, produced in clean surroundings and handled under sanitary conditions, possesses certain elements of food value which are changed by the degree of heat used in pasteurization.

During consideration of the proposed ordinance requiring that all milk sold in Mansfield be pasteurized, members of the board of health have given much thought and study to the subject, each being credited with a sincere desire to serve the best interests of the people of this city, from a health standpoint.

In the course of discussion it has become apparent that there has been some laxity in enforcement of the existing ordinance setting up standards for quality of raw milk and also requiring distributors to meet rigid regulations as to condition of their cattle, sanitary surroundings and cleanliness of handling.

Now that a majority of the health board members have decided to at least temporarily defer passage of the general pasteurization ordinance, it becomes highly important to proceed immediately toward more complete and continuous enforcement of the present ordinance, which permits only Grade A raw milk to be sold in the city and which establishes regulations that distinguish this milk from the Grade B, for which pasteurization is required.

In making sure that none except Grade A raw milk is distributed in Mansfield, the health and enforcement authorities should be given the whole-hearted co-operation of interested producers and distributors of raw milk.

A Safe Christmas to You.

THIS YEAR, if past precedents prevail, many a Christmas that starts out merrily will end in tragedy—because of fire. A dead child, a seriously burned parent, a destroyed home—these are the fruits of carelessness and ignorance in regard to fire hazards.

The danger of fire always exists, and with the holiday season a number of especially grave hazards appear. One of the worst of these is the use of real candles on Christmas trees. As the tree dries, it will very easily catch fire from even the slightest flame. And even though a tree is green enough to resist candle flame, the danger of clothing and decorations igniting is extremely great. Use electric tree candles—and buy outfits of good quality to reduce the hazard of short-circuits.

Christmas costumes, of paper and flimsy cloth, are another important danger, especially to children too young to be properly careful. Such costumes should never be worn in the presence of open flame of any kind, such as a fireplace.

During Christmas, more than ordinary care should be taken with matches and smoking materials. With a litter of package wrappings about, and the house in general happy disorder, carelessness with a match or cigaret may be the prelude to a conflagration.

Fascists Defend Themselves.

THE BERLIN Nachtausgabe, replying to an editorial in the New York Times exposing the predatory policies of the Fascist governments, says:

"The Times knows very well that Germany, Italy and Japan have no militarily aggressive designs against any states. It also knows that these three states will merely defend themselves against Bolshevism's attack."

So the same old bugaboo of Communism is still dragged out to excuse whatever any of the three Fascist powers undertake in the way of military racketeering.

There is an element of humor in thus giving Japan a clean bill of virtue, after what she has done in China. There was some Communism in Mongolia, but none in Shanghai, when the Japanese visited upon that great city an orgy of fire and slaughter. There were Communists in Spain, but they were not in charge of the government when Germany and Italy plunged in to bedevil that distressed land. There were no Communists in Ethiopia when Italy shot up and annexed that country. Germany is planning to grab the Russian Ukraine—not because the people there are Communists, but because the Germans want the land.

Housing In Guatemala.

WHILE the United States studies the low-cost housing plans of England and some other European countries, a neighbor to the South looks to us for its model. Guatemala is getting ready to attack its own housing problem and has decided to begin with our type of small, up-to-date but moderately priced houses.

The flattering imitation includes everything. The business men backing the project have written to the United States for catalogs from the makers of bathroom fixtures, metal sinks and other kitchen equipment, electric washing machines, metal furniture, and wall door and recess beds.

Guatemala City was practically destroyed by earthquake in 1918 and rebuilt in 1920, so wholesale remodeling is not a new thing to its citizens. In taking over house plans from us, their architects and builders will doubtless keep their own peculiar problems in mind and make adaptations accordingly. We hope, too, that they will not sacrifice any features of their older construction which were distinctive and beautiful.

Roads To Permanent Peace Difficult To Find

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Countries are drawn into war in such an infinity of different ways that it seems well-nigh impossible for any particular country to adopt an advance policy to keep itself out of the next one.

One school of thought is to the effect that a strong nation, well prepared for war, is likely to be left in peace, because it is too dangerous to tackle.

An opposite school of thought holds that an overly well-prepared nation tends to become truculent; thus to get into trouble, due to its own excess of confidence in itself.

Pre-World war Germany is the classic example of a country which was too well armed for its own good. Pacifistic China is the classic example of a country which has been persistently "picked on" because underarmed.

Both propositions are arguable—arguable to a tie, in short.

* * *

WHICH?

Fred A. Britten of Illinois, in earlier post-World war days chairman of the house of representatives' naval affair committee, was a good deal of a militarist.

Yet Britten favored naval limitation treaties. He reasoned that countries with big armaments constantly were tempted to use them; the only way to restrain them was to deny them the facilities with which to fight.

At the same time former Congressman George Huddleston of Alabama, quite a pacifist, contended that a couple of armamentless countries could fight with carving knives if quarrelsome enough. His view was that mutual disarmament might imply all-around good will, but that disarmament without general good will didn't amount to anything.

Well, both these propositions also are arguable.

* * *

"NOT WARS"

More recently Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota launched his movement to maintain American neutrality in the event of warfare between or among any two or more foreign powers.

He made out so convincing a case that congress passed his law, requiring the president to discontinue, in effect, American relations with any two or more foreign countries which might declare hostilities between or among themselves.

Since than there have been three foreign wars:

1. Italy against Ethiopia.
2. Civil war in Spain.
3. Japan's war against China.

But they were not "declared" wars. They were unofficial. Technically, they were NOT wars.

Consequently the Nye act did not fit them.

President Roosevelt might, indeed, have proclaimed that "states of war" actually existed, and proceeded accordingly—but he did not see fit to do so.

Nye-ites blame him. Others commend him.

Again, both points are arguable.

* * *

"ANTI-WAR" AMENDMENT

Now comes Representative Louis Ludlow of Indiana with a constitutional amendment, to require a national referendum before the United States can take a hand in a foreign war.

Hitherto only congress has had the authority to declare war on Uncle Sam's behalf.

The president has been able to create "situations" which left congress no alternative but to declare war, but he himself could not do it. As for the public, it had no veto power.

Ludlow seeks to put the question up to the public.

But it takes a constitutional amendment. To amend the constitution calls for a two-thirds congressional vote and three-quarters of the state legislatures.

It will be a hard, long-drawn-out amendment to get adopted.

Life Has No Empty Chairs.

THAT empty chair at the Christmas table—

"I cannot bear it!" she cries. "Ever since our darling died, seven months ago, I've been able to hold myself steady, in a sort of living death. But now I know I'll break . . . seeing the place where she used to sit all empty now, without her laugh, her gay, sweet ways—Oh, I dare not face it!"

How many of us echo that tortured cry as the holiday draws near. Some dear one gone. Christmas, that used to be the happiest day, now dreadful . . . facing that empty chair.

I know, I, too, had an empty chair. And yet I know that you and I are wrong in our bleak grief. It was not meant that we should suffer so. It's part of our own black bewilderment . . .

LIFE HAS NO EMPTY CHAIRS.

Nor need we have them, if we'll walk with Life . . . and dare to let Life have its way with love and grief. I remember the day that knowledge came to me—

A mountain dawn, with Christmas just two days away. An eager, breathing dawn . . . the new green pricking through the russet tangle of the ferns . . . the dark earth steaming in the pale, gilt light. Quail calling over the hill . . . rabbits scuttling through the chaparral . . . the smell of apples and wood smoke scenting the crisp air.

Yet—ice on my heart. And terror, thinking of that vacant chair. Christmas without my boy! No glittering tree, no presents—never any more. But I would find some berries for his photograph.

And so I went along a forest trail we'd learned to love. For years we two had known each tree along that way. And now I walked alone, in pain too deep for tears. There was the rock he'd climbed . . . the bush where he had cut a cane . . . the little swale where he had gathered violets. And there the oak which he had blazed one day with his new Boy Scout hatchet.

How proud he'd been! I bent to trace the scar—but it was gone! Already, Life, disdaining death and scars, had spread new, living bark across the wound!

New bark? New growth . . . where we had thought that growth was done? No lasting scars for Life . . . no "empty chairs" for Love! In one bright flash I saw the glorious Truth.

Our hurt hearts need not die! One needed just the willingness to live . . . one needed just the courage to go on!

* * *

DON'T grieve when Christmas comes. Don't say, "We're not celebrating today. You know"—Don't sit and suffer by an empty chair.

Lift that head!
Light that house!
Fill that chair!

There's a tired old man somewhere . . . there's a lonely woman . . . there's a bewildered youngster . . . there's a homeless little tad . . . needing that love you're letting stagnate . . . needing that chair you're keeping vacant.

Call them in! Open your arms! Lead them to that chair!

DARE TO WALK WITH LIFE! DARE TO LET LIFE WORK ITS HEALING ON HURT LOVE!

Christmas Song

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Christmas brings its joy once more,
Again we have the opened door,
Again the heart warmed to mankind,
Again for pain deep pity find.

Christmas lends once more the brief
For gentle kindness, for relief
Of poverty, bright wreaths are hung
To light the world . . . and carols sung.

And every heart a vision sees
In stars above the Christmas trees,
A manger and the wise men, too,
And pledges love and hope anew.

Christmas sends its wealth of love
And merry greetings sound above
The drab of every day . . . earth lifts
Its wishes high in song and gifts.

Christmas . . . weary years would be
Without the shining cedar tree,
Without the dream that points us high,
Gives us new faith for living by.

"NO LIKE"

Farmers gave radio commentators a sardonic ha-ha when they announced that farm income this year had reached eight and one half billion dollars and that everybody ought to be happy. Estimates up to six months ago were nine billion. And falling commodity prices caught farmers just when they were ready to sell.

SQUEEZE

Automobile manufacturers are said to be calling upon firms making parts for them and suggesting that prices be lowered—even if there are contracts for higher prices. Auto manufacturers cannot reduce pay, parts makers may try to. At any rate they are in a hole. Automobile prices for several makes are expected to be cut after Jan. 1. The price increases made in November, for the new models, has not "taken." This is the word in Wall Street.

FORD BUILDS

Henry Ford, who talks decentralization, is building huge additions to his River Rouge plant, Detroit. By the end of 1938, this will be the greatest self-contained plant in the world. Ford, never satisfied that anybody else can do as well as he, in cost, at least, hones to buy less and less outside.

Incidentally, the new Ford distributing plant in St. Louis will be Ford's largest branch. Inexpensive transportation on the Mississippi river may have something to do with that.

"The World Owes You a Ride."

Aside from the danger involved, the old-fashioned people are likely to be irritated by the schoolboy habit of "thumbing" rides. There are still persons left who believe in traveling on your own feet, your own dimes or your own wheels.

Of course, this isn't fashionable at a time when millions of grown men and women are trying to hop a ride out of all their difficulties. This is the "world-owes-you-a-ride" point of view. It is a long walk. The streetcar fare was spent for a soda. Oh, well, just stand on the corner long enough and somebody will offer you a comfortable seat and an easy way.

The police have based their drive against "thumbers" on the dangers of standing in the streets and riding with strangers. The parents should thank them for it.

Perhaps any hope that begging rides would be stopped for reasons of character is extravagant. The example set by a widespread attitude is hardly one to encourage a boy of 15 to save his dime for the ride home or to walk ten blocks.—Kansas City Star.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

Levying Upon the Future.

By WALTER E. SPAHR
Professor of Economics, New York University.

It is unmistakably clear that we have been giving altogether too little thought to the extent to which we have been levying upon the future.

There has been much discussion of the fact that we are piling up a huge public debt for our children to pay, but the bad features of our present-day practices involve much more than that.

When our children and others pay taxes in the future to retire this great and mounting debt, they will not just pay the taxes to themselves, as often asserted; a large proportion of those taxes will ultimately flow into the banks, and there pile up as surplus reserves because of the great extent to which these banks hold government bonds. This will tend to contract the currency supply and to create new economic maladjustments. Those who today insist that an unbalanced budget and a mounting debt create purchasing power either ignore the future or forget that, if this debt creates purchasing power today, the retirement of the debt must curtail this purchasing power in the future.

In thinking of today, while forgetting tomorrow, we are also dissipating tomorrow's savings and capital. The reserve funds paid to the federal government under the social security act to meet the demands of the future are being used now to meet our present-day expenses. When the future becomes the present, and when the demands for payment are made, the funds will be gone—they will have been spent by a generation that thought more of its immediate governmental needs than of those who attempted to store up savings for the future.

Then, in some of our taxation, we are not levying merely upon current incomes; we are levying upon the capital and sources of income in the future. Inheritance and estate taxes, corporate undistributed profits tax, and capital gains tax do this.

All other forms of taxation which prevent or deter capital accumulation likewise have the effect of restricting the future supply of capital and income. Similarly, all our government programs that are coercive and restrictive in nature—those designed to restrict supply to provide higher prices and perhaps greater income in the present—tend to reduce or impair the future supply of capital and income.

But we are doing even more than levying against our children's supply of capital and income. We are levying upon their liberties, happiness, and general well-being.

Perhaps no better illustration of this can be found than in the proposed agricultural program. In an effort to increase their mess of pottage today, the farmers and their children are to be placed in a state of bondage. They are to become subjects and tenants of the federal government. They are to be the guinea pigs of the Department of Agriculture. They are to have their freedom and that of their children bartered away for a few paltry checks or pieces of silver from the treasury.

And this is not all. It is also proposed to tack on to that vicious bill a provision for inflating the currency. Inflation of the currency is one of the most effective devices known to impair the nation's savings and future capital and income. It eats them up and causes the great mass of people to sink to lower and lower standards of living as the days go by. It is a deadly, insidious enemy against which people always fight a losing battle. In the end, their savings, the results of a life time of effort, are wiped out.

The history of this world is blackened with an endless number of great tragedies caused by currency inflation. People seem unwilling or unable to learn from these experiences. They cannot seem to realize that there is no way to create wealth or to increase national well-being by printing paper money or by debasing a nation's coin. Were such feats of magic possible, they would have been performed long ago.

The proposed agricultural program, combined with currency inflation, is sheer madness and will constitute a terrible levy upon the future well-being and happiness of our people. It will bring tragedy, suffering, and bitter regrets.

When shall we prove more worthy of our heritage? When shall we give thought to the future and to those who must follow after us and bear the burdens which we are thrusting upon them?

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Barking Up the Wrong Tree"

From the parlance of the hunt comes to us the expression "barking up the wrong tree," which is used today to indicate an unsuccessful quest.

Originally this figure of speech had a literal significance.

Hailing from the South, where the 'possum hunt is a tradition, it has reference to the elusiveness of the furry quarry that, with the speed of lightning, scampers up and down trees, giving a merry chase to dogs on its trail.

With a hunt in full swing, many a dog finds himself barking up a tree that contains nothing of the 'possum but his scent, while the wary animal has been up and long since down, in search of a safe refuge.

McIntyre's New York Day by Day

JACK HINES is back in circulation, having returned from his latest experiment in working a gold claim in a lonely Nevada valley. Hines is the writing world's true soldier of fortune. A gentleman of many talents, who has roamed the world as fancy dictates.

Twenty years ago he rounded in from the Klondyke to write his famous dog stories for the leading magazines. And for a number of years his fine baritone voice rang clear at the Dutch Treat and Illustrators' shows. But his life has not been all glamour. Plenty of ups and downs.

He was on the stage awhile, sang in night clubs and had an auto accident in which he was for a time horribly disfigured aside from losing a part of his tongue. He had to learn to talk again. Gene Buck called him the Bombardier Wells of literature—often on the floor but always got up.

Rex Beach can recall the time he was in a jerry-built roadhouse on the shores of the Behring sea when he was a strippling. A youth with a ten days' growth of beard arrived by dog sled. And Beach, who played the mandolin, started the newcomer singing and he sang until dawn. It was Hines.

On a recent day the Artists and Writers paid Hines a deserved compliment in welcoming him home. Frank Crowninshield proposed him for honorary life membership and Arthur William Brown, Rube Goldberg, Bud Kelland, Grant Rice and Messmore Kendall were among those who arose to the last man to second the nomination with a lusty cheer. And Hines sang his thanks with misty eyes.

The short light tan box coat with the black velvet collar that Billy (Single) Clifford used to affect in vaudeville along with a low-bowler is finding expression again. I saw two exponents on the avenue in the late fall and they threaten to become almost a plague by spring. And a style shark at Sulka's tells me the silk shirt is in again. It went into eclipse with the market nose dive and was worn mostly by the gamblers and tin horn tosspots.

Mayor La Guardia and the architect Whitney Warren are, so far as I can notice, the last defenders of the wide-brimmed black Stetson, so popular in Missouri and Kansas in the days when the Younger and James boys rode. The Mayor acquired a hanker for the style during his early Arizona days, and Warren, an elderly Brummel, evidently clung to the shape as a leftover of his student days in the Paris Latin Quarter. Hatters say no one can wear the pampas sombrero, on the screen, stage or sidewalk, like William S. Hart. Although the late Maclyn Arbuckle was not far behind.

His Honor the Mayor is the least style conscious of any metropolitan chief executive. He buys store clothes at a shop on Broadway and two extra suits are usually the limit of his wardrobe. It is seldom his habiliments are not in dire need of the presser's art, and his neckties are never quite thoroughly knotted. Clothes simply do not interest him. And New York somehow warms to his derelictions. The town was pretty well fed up with descriptions of Jimmy Walker's one-buttoned great coats, high peaked lapels and things.

The peg for the sartorial panegyrics today is, of course, Lucius Beebe, whose latest fashion rocket zoomed in one of the night clubs where he appeared in a dinner jacket of a deep tobacco brown. But Beebe, a sly wag in his own right, is, I suspect, merely needling the kidders when he dazzles the populace now and then. He is willing, despite the austerity of his sober face, to go to great lengths for a laugh. Also he has by his dressy didoes, feigned and real, advertised himself and column from coast to coast. In two years he is about the best known reporter in America.

I watched an accomplished brandy drinker in a restaurant last night. He was like a kitten with catnip while basking in the aroma from an enormous goblet. Now and then he would sip and roll his eyes heavenward, heaving an ecstatic sigh. During our stay he made away with four pourings and a waiter said his customary quota was a half dozen, after which he walked out steadily. With a half dozen, most of us would go out feet up on a litter.

HEARS HISTORY OF CITY LIBRARY

Rotary Told of Institution's Growth In Last 50 Years By Head Librarian.

Growth and departmental development of the Mansfield public library, as a part of the city's educational system, provided the basis for an interesting talk given at Tuesday's meeting of the Rotary club by Miss Lois MacKellar, chief librarian.

Miss MacKellar briefly outlined the history of the origin of a public library in Mansfield fifty years ago, with first headquarters in the Memorial building, and told of the gift of $35,000 by Andrew Carnegie in 1903, leading to the erection of the present library building.

She explained the present facilities for county-wire distribution of books from the Mansfield library, as well as the way in which the library co-operates with the schools, study clubs and the general public in providing books and information needed for special purposes.

Judge Edwin Mansfield, member of the library board of trustees, was chairman of the meeting, at which W. L. Miller, club president, presided. Harold Dilmore, of Canton, former member of the Mansfield club, was a guest at the meeting.

Safety Pin Fails to Foil Toledo Pickpocket.

TOLEDO—(INS)—Even a safety pin didn't help. Charles Prosser, of Toledo, reported to police that he had $100 in bills in the watch pocket of his trousers when he entered a downtown theater, and that the pocket was safely pinned. But when he got home, he found his money gone. The pin? That was gone too.

RULES ON CASE

Judge Holds Franklin Courts Will Hear Gas Action.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Common Pleas Judge Dana Reynolds has announced that the Franklin county courts will hear the $43,000,000 damage suit brought against the Columbia Gas & Electric company and several affiliates

The suit was brought by John L. Davies, city attorney, acting as an individual, who charged the adulteration of gas served to 700,000 Ohio consumers since 1929.

The gas company sought to disqualify the local judges on the ground that they were gas consumers and had an interest in the case. Chief Justice Carl Weygandt of the Ohio supreme court ruled in favor of the judges but held they could withdraw voluntarily. This, Judge Reynolds said, will not be done.

GAVE BLOOD TO SAVE 30 LIVES

Memphis Fireman Donates to 78 Emergency Patients.

MEMPHIS—(U.P.)—Because he likes to feel that he is "doing something for those who cannot help themselves," Fire Captain Elwin Waldran has given more than 40 quarts of his blood for emergency cases at Memphis hospitals during the past nine years.

Doctors say his blood, given without recompense to those needing it in emergencies, has saved more than 30 lives.

Seventy-eight times during the past nine years, physicians have sent emergency calls to Waldran and 78 times he rushed to the hospital where the transfusions were made.

SCHOOLS TO PAY CITY $5,000 ON OLD WATER BILL

Board Authorizes 'Christmas Gift' Installment on Seven-Year-Old Debt.

Possibly moved by the holiday spirit, the Mansfield board of education today had authorized Dr. J. H. Bristor, board clerk, to make the city a $5,000 "Christmas gift" installment on a seven-year-old water rental debt.

The payment will reduce the board's original $13,000 bill to $5,000, according to Bristor, who has been reminding board members of the debt at the last several meetings.

Ruled valid by the Ohio supreme court two years ago, the bill represents rentals over a five-year period during which the board believed rentals for schools were not collectable. The supreme court decision reversed an opinion handed down seven years ago by the district court of appeals, aimed at freeing schools of the rental burden.

Because of a lack of funds, the board had deferred payments on the old bill until recently. Current rental payments have been made, however, Bristor said.

Leaves $7,847 Balance.

The $5,000 authorization, added to $2,381 in current bills, reduced the board's general fund to $7,847. That amount with $9,123 in the bond retirement fund, will be carried over into the new year.

The board authorized J. B. Moke, schools purchasing agent, to buy coal for the remainder of the school year.

New prices, effective Dec. 16, show increases of from 15 cents to 40 cents per ton, Moke said.

Companies which will receive the orders, provided coal is available at the prices quoted, are the New York Coal company, Sunday Creek Coal company, Leckie Coal company and Carbon Fuel Sales company. Fuel for the schools was purchased from the same firms last year, Moke said.

He estimated that 1,500 tons of coal will be needed to complete the school year. Approximate cost will range from $7,500 to $8,000, he said.

'INVISIBLE' FIRE DEPARTMENT AIDS CITY TO FIGHT FLAMES

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Although its name never appears in the headlines, Columbus has an "invisible" fire department which has become an important aid in fighting the city's fires.

It is the Firemen's Wives' auxiliary, consisting of 50 women.

Wherever a big fire is raging, the women's brigade is on the scene, preparing soup, coffee and sandwiches for the men. Other members scour the neighborhood, inveigling merchants to donate gloves, socks and other necessities for their husbands.

At the recent fire that destroyed half a city block in the downtown area, two members of the brigade prepared 15 gallons of vegetable soup and had it at the scene of the blaze shortly after the fire broke out. A soup kitchen soon was established, and food, coffee and cigarets were on hand in quantity.

The women feel that firemen, despite their rugged exterior, need mothering just as much as the softest of the "stronger sex."

The brigade was organized nine years ago to dress dolls brought in by firemen for distribution to needy children at Christmas.

LABOR FACTIONS MAP DRIVES AS PEACE FAILS

Federation Plans Campaign to 'Divide and Conquer' CIO Opponents.

WASHINGTON—(AP)— American Federation of Labor leaders talked today of starting a "divide and conquer" campaign against the CIO, now that peace negotiations in organized labor's factional war have collapsed.

John L. Lewis' committee for Industrial Organization prepared at the same time to enroll more recruits and consolidate its ranks.

The federation's first step, informed persons said, might be an attempt to get the International Ladies' Garment Workers to leave the CIO and rejoin the A. F. of L.

Then the federation may expel the United Mine workers and the Amalgamated Clothing workers at the executive council's Miami meeting next month, and start a membership battle in the coal fields and clothing factories.

The United Garment Workers and the Progressive Miners of America would lead the fight, officials said, but the federation would back those unions with funds and organizers.

Appealed to CIO.

At the federation's Denver convention last fall, President William Green appealed to the rank and file of the CIO unions in both coal fields and clothing mills to overthrow their leaders and return to the A. F. of L. fold.

Leaders talked chiefly of concentrating their fire on the strongest and longest-established CIO unions—the source of most of the CIO's income.

Lewis' forces, on the other hand, discussed a call for an early national convention and creation of more city, state and industrial councils.

Convention talk envisioned transformation of the CIO from a loose committee of union leaders in a federation of unions organized along the general lines of the A. F. of L.

Peace negotiations came to an end yesterday afternoon when the CIO committee suggested there was no point in meeting any longer.

The A. F. of L. committee agreed, adding that the federation had nothing more to offer.

The negotiations, first suggested by Lewis, started Oct. 25 and continued intermittently. At one time, the joint committee turned the negotiations over to Lewis and green.

The two generals found, however, they could make no more progress than had their lieutenants. Each said had demanded complete surrender from the other.

A representative of the Ohio National bank brought bank records to the jury today.

The first, described as fairly strong, began at 10:43:52 P. M. E. S. T., reached a maximum at 10:56 p. m. and ended 1 a m. The distance was about 2,300 miles in a southwesterly direction.

The second tremor, which the university seismologist said probably came from the same place, was very slight. It began at 2:41:40 a. m., recorded a maximum at 2:54 a. m., and ended at 3 a. m.

INDICT TEACHER

Jurors Return Charge In 'Spanking' of School Girl.

WASHINGTON, Ind. — (AP) — Grant Scales, principal of the Alfordsville high school, charged with "spanking" a girl pupil with a heavy paddle, awaited a hearing under $250 bond today. He was indicted by a grand jury on assault and battery charges.

Sheriff Milton H. Fitzgerald said Mary Ginder, 17, charged that Scales beat her until the paddle broke, badly bruising her body.

CHECKS MAILED

COLUMBUS—(AP)—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson mailed today the last of the December old age pension checks which numbered 104,000.

Delay in mailing, Ferguson said, was due to Gov. Martin L. Davey's granting a 10 per cent increase at the time the checks were being prepared.

SUICIDE-BENT MOTHER LEAVES 'I LOVE YOU' NOTE IN BLOOD

SAN FRANCISCO—(U.P.)—When Mrs. Jean Becker was interrupted in her suicide, she fled from the house leaving the words "I love you" written in her blood across the kitchen floor.

It was a message to her son and husband, whom she was bidding farewell as she sat on the floor inhaling gas from the kitchen stove through a hose. The blood spurted from wounds in her wrist which she had slashed with a knife, and she traced the letters on the linoleum with her finger.

The odor of the gas attracted James Dooley, the landlord of the apartment house.

He walked in and saw Mrs. Becker sitting on the floor, holding the hose in her mouth. Mrs. Becker sprang up and ran from the building. Dooley called police. They found a trail of blood leading down the street.

Mrs. Becker eluded pursuit and six squads of policemen joined the search for her. She was caught when she approached the toll house of the Golden Gate bridge. When she saw the policemen she fainted.

She said she had intended to jump from the bridge. The reason she gave was: "My folks say I'm no good and they put me out."

She is 30 years old, she said, and she declined to say where her husband and child were. Doctors said she would recover.

of the city, which is 390 miles north of Shanghai.

Reports that 30,000 Japanese troops had left Shanghai for an unknown destination and that 80 transports were ready for additional troops gave impetus to fears that Tsingtao, as well as other of China's coastal cities, would be attacked.

United States authorities at Shanghai and Tokyo notified Japanese that a flag-decorated train carrying 300 foreigner refugees, some of whom were Americans, would leave Hankow for Canton tomorrow. The train was due at Canton from the interior city on Christmas day.

JUST 'STRAY BULLETS'?

TOKYO—(AP)—The foreign office, in what it called an "interim report" on sinking of the United States gunboat Panay by Japanese planes, declared today Japanese surface boats were machine-gunning Chinese at the time "and there might have been stray bullets flying toward the Panay" from these surface boats.

The report declared also that the Japanese fliers, who sank the gunboat in the Yangtze river above Nanking, also bombed Japanese troops and killed two soldiers despite the fact the troops waved ten Japanese flags.

"Japanese military authorities have done everything in their power to ascertai nthe facts regarding the incident. Unfortunately, various army units are scattered over a wide area and means of communication are inadequate, so investigations have been delayed," the statement said.

SENDS MORE TROOPS

LONDON—(AP)—The war office announced today that the British garrison at Hongkong would be strengthened as the government dispatched the 16th protest it has made to Japan since the outbreak of the far eastern conflict.

Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, British ambassador to Tokyo, was instructed to protest a Japanese attack on and seizure of a Chinese customs vessel in territorial waters off the British colony of Hongkong, Dec. 11.

The double action followed a two and a half hour review of the oriental situation by the cabinet this morning.

The troopship Dunera prepared to leave Southampton to take aboard the second battalion of Royal Scots at Bombay who will go to Hongkong.

Youth Still Owes Court So His New Fine's Suspended

A plea to pay a fine on the installment plan was rejected by Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch today when he recognized an 18-year-old Shelby youth as the same one who less than six weeks ago had been before him on a petit larceny charge and was still paying on that count.

Robert P. Bushey, Shelby, arraigned on a charge of careless and reckless driving, pleaded guilty and was first fined $10 and costs and his operator's permit was suspended for 20 days.

When he asked if he could make arrangements to pay the fin in weekly installments, the court said, "aren't you the fellow who was in here some time ago for stealing chickens, and aren't you paying on that fine now?"

The youth admitted he still owed a balance.

"There's only one way to keep you fellows off the road," the judge said. "I'll suspend your fine and revoke your operator's permit for one year."

Bushey was arrested last night on route 30N near Crestline by state highway patrolmen. They testified that while they were on an emergency call traveling 80 milesan hour, Bushey pulled his car up behind them and trailed them.

The youth told the court it was out of curiosity that he was following the officers. "I wanted to see where they were going," he said.

Graft Probe, Relief Fight Threaten Assembly Snag

'HATCHET MEN' SEEK TO FORCE FUND FOR QUIZ

Senate Ready to Defer Vote on Relief, Budget to Compel Long Awaited 'Showdown.'

COLUMBUS —(AP)— A house-battered permanent relief program collided today with the senate's graft-hunting investigation of state departments and was threatened with virtually indefinite delay.

The accomplishment:

House passed three and killed two key items on the poor relief program.

The prospect:

House to complete action on relief bills today and adjourn over holidays.

Senate leaders ready to defer action on both relief and supplemental appropriations until early February

Seeking $50,000.

"Hatchet men" foes of Gov. Martin L. Davey hoped to force enactment of $50,000 appropriation for expenses of their investigation.

Thus, the militant "hatchet" group set the stage apparently for the long-heralded "showdown" between the senate bloc on one side and Governor Davey and the house of representatives on the other.

The senate investigating committee was named late yesterday, organized immediately and hired as its general counsel former State Sen. James Metzenbaum of Cleveland, dynamic attorney and spearhead of the 1935 senate probe of the Ohio relief situation.

The committee, armed with a sweeping grant of power from the senate to inquire into practically every state department's operations, lacked only the money to finance its investigation.

The senate finance committee scheduled today a hearing and probable rapid approval of the $50,000 appropriation. Senate passage was likely but the bill faced two important hurdles: house concurrence and Governor Davey's action.

Heads for Crisis.

Last spring the executive balked a similar investigation by vetoing the committee's expense grants, and "hatchet" leaders contended that senate refusal to act on relief and supplemental appropriations until the investigation is well under way would bring to a head the long-brewing issue with the governor

Lieut. Gov. Paul P. Yoder, mentor and leader of the senate opposition bloc, contended there was no urgent need for acting on permanent relief because measures already enacted would finance the local communities' needs, he said, until at least Feb. 15.

Yoder disclosed his position immediately after he named the seven-member investigation committee.

All have opposed the Davey administration's fiscal policies, but Yoder, describing them as "a fair committee—not stacked," said he purposely had omitted from its membership "outstanding pro or anti-Davey senators."

Christmas Near, Council Rushes Through Session

City council in its final meeting of the year last night—unless there's another special session, such as last night's—set some kind of a record for speed.

It was a short session as council meetings go—lasting less than an hour. Council listened to two citizens committees, one petitioning for changes in the night club closing ordinance and the other requesting that the Remy avenue sidewalks be lowered.

After the spokesmen had been heard, council swung into high gear and in exactly seven minutes approved 11 resolutions calling for the transfer of funds in the various departments to cover expenditures for the balance of the year.

The transfers, totaling approximately $2,000, were all within the general fund.

Two ordinances authorizing supplemental appropriations totaling $1,019 were also passed as was an ordinance approving the plan of settlement of delinquent assessments owed by the city to the county. This included an appropriation of $236.77 from the waterworks department for payment of that part of the debt chargeable to that department.

The balance of $3,330.59 is to be paid in nine annual installments of $370 07, deducted from the annual tax settlements due the city from the county.

The 17-year-old tax debt was a special assessment on the cleaning of two streams and for taxes on a plot of ground owned by the city and used by the waterworks department.

Up and Down THE STREET

From the furniture to the theater business was only a short step for F. W. Rowlands, former Mansfielder and now head of a company which recently opened the largest suburban theater in Columbus. Rowlands, who was a partner in the Hoover-Rowlands Furniture store in Mansfield, left here eight years ago. His new $175,000 Main theater will seat 1,500 patrons.

Karl Horn, a Mansfield artist is in a class by himself when it comes to originality in Christmas cards. Horn draws his own cards with a caricature of himself somewhere in the scene. This year they are hand colored, and they show him seated in a sleigh, attired in fur coat and cap and ear muffs, driving a horse down a snow-covered countryside.

Mayor-elect Claude M. Hunter did a lot of worrying for nothing the other night—all because the burdens of an approaching administration probably made him a bit absent-minded. Given an automobile ignition key to deliver to a west side woman at a meeting, he put the key in his pocket and forgot all about it until he was ready to retire at 2 a. m. The rest of the night he spent wondering whether the woman had to walk home, only to find the next day that she had a duplicate key in her purse and hadn't missed the forgotten key.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates was working personally today on a theft case, because some of his own property was involved in it. Two telephones and a gun used in the Muster-Cheers Christmas show at the Ohio theater Saturday night were missing when a check-up on show property was made Sunday. The gun—a wooden one—belonged to the chief. Perhaps the person who took them doesn't realize that if they aren't returned, they'll have to be paid for from the funds that were raised to buy food for the city's needy for Christmas.

THOUSANDS DIE IN BATTLE AT SPANISH CITY

Franco's Aids Admit Capture of Stronghold In Major Government Victory.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier — (AP) — Government forces have captured Teruel, insurgent officers said they were advised today by Generalissimo Francisco Franco's headquarters.

Official government dispatches —following an earlier premature announcement that the strategic provincial capital had been occupied—indicated part of the old quarter known as "The City of Rock" remained in insurgent hands.

Only isolated bands of the insurgent garrison still were resisting. Franco's officers acknowledged. They said Salamanca headquarters considered the city, which had been spearhead of Franco's Lower Aragon line, as lost.

Take New Positions.

Official insurgent spokesmen refused to confirm or deny government capture of the city. Insurgent officers, however, said reports indicated Franco would reestablish his line from Albarracin across the Teruel-Zaragoza highway about six miles north of Teruel.

Government troops fought their way across a ravine to attack the old Teruel fortress where the insurgent defenders made their last stand.

The major part of Teruel was in government hands after a battle last evening in which thousands of men were reported killed or wounded.

The government said its forces awaited only dawn to complete the occupation.

The government's communique reported that the 18th army corps, advancing from the southeast, crossed "over and under" an aqueduct into the old quarter of the city, gaining a foothold for possibly the last struggle of the Teruel campaign.

Dispatches from Valencia said Teruel fell when government attackers stormed and captured a bull ring where the insurgent defenders made a last stand against bayonet charges.

(Madrid hailed the success at Teruel as the greatest in the 17 months old civil conflict The last Teruel census showed 12,000 inhabitants but refugees were believed to have swelled the city to 20,000 or 25,000).

The Great Game of Politics

—By FRANK R. KENT

The End of the Session.

AS THE extra session of congress, convened by the president on Nov. 15, comes to a close, its complete futility is the outstanding aspect of the record. Except for the amendments to the Housing Act, which under heavy pressure were jammed through at the last moment, a completely blank score was made.

* * *

THE ONE concrete accomplishment was the passage of a bill providing mileage for members and other expenses. This is a practically parallelled performance and the facts ought to be clearly understood. For one thing, it definitely re-establishes the fact that Mr. Roosevelt, with a four-to-one party majority, has lost control of congress. In the regular session last summer his inability to impose his will on the legislative brauch was shown in the remarkable revolt against his proposal to pack the Supreme Court with six additional justices. In this session it was shown by the failure of congress to enact finally the crop-control bill, for which he had said the country could not wait, and by the striking defeat of the wage-and-hour control bill, which the president called upon it to pass as a redemption of both a party and a personal pledge.

LAST spring, addressing the American people, the president likened the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government to a three-horse team. He indicted the court as the one horse which was not pulling with the other two. Today, if he still adheres to that unsound conception of the American system, he would be compelled to indict the legislative horse along with the judicial. Because it is much too plain that it is not now pulling with the executive either. In brief, though his party majority is still the largest any president has had in a hundred years, it is now clear that Mr. Roosevelt cannot command it as he did in his first term; that administration programs are no longer docilely accepted and White House "must" lists have lost their meaning. There is no disagreement about these facts. They are too obvious to dispute. Nor is there much divergence of opinion as to the reasons the president today finds his legislative leaders cold and discouraged, an increasing number of Democratic senators openly expressing dissent from his policies and a growing confusion among his followers

AT BOTTOM, most people will agree upon two reasons—

First, that the present depression has deepened distrust of the New Deal policies and awakened members of congress to the dangers involved.

Second, that both in the last session and in this Mr. Roosevelt has urged upon congress the enactment of bills (the court-packing bill for one and the wage-and-hour bill for the other) deeply distasteful to the people as a whole and involving radical changes in the American system for which there was neither justification nor demand.

IN ANY EVENT, the fact remains that the control over congress which Mr. Roosevelt lost in the last session because of his effort to seize the supreme court he failed to regain in the extra session through his demand for a wage-and-hour bill and a farm bill. The striking thing about the defeat of the former was that it was brought about by southern Democrats from states where Mr. Roosevelt personally is supposed to be strongest and the Democratic party has its greatest solidity.

IN ELEVEN southern states there were only 12 Democrats who voted with the president; 95 against. No one can recall a measure urged by a Democratic president to carry out a party pledge which southern Democrats in congress failed overwhelmingly to support. It has not occurred before. Fundamentally, it is hard to avoid the conclusion that the real reason for the futility of the extra session is that Mr. Roosevelt tried to force congress to swallow measures for which there was no popular demand and which it did not want, and personally prevented it from taking the preliminary step it wanted to take to relieve business of what are generally conceded as unjust burdens and too heavy handicaps. In brief, the president's leadership this session, as in the last, was in the direction neither congress nor the country wanted to go.

LAUDS BLACK'S 'KINDLINESS'

Pastor Eulogizes Ohio Brass Founder at Simple But Impressive Rites.

Two hundred close friends and business associates sat with bowed heads in Raemelton House yesterday afternoon at funeral services for Frank B. Black, and heard Rev. Peter Young, pastor of the First Congregational church, pay tribute in a brief eulogy to the "essential kindliness and humanity" of the man who founded the Ohio Brass company and directed its destinies for 49 years.

The service was short, simple and impressive, lasting for 20 minutes. Then the body of the man whose sudden death Sunday afternoon shocked the entire city, was carried from the huge white house he built in 1932, and laid to rest in the Black family lot in Mansfield cemetery.

Floral tributes from near and far overflowed the spacious room in which his body lay during the funeral service, and were banked in other rooms of the house.

Rev. Young read from the Scriptures, "I am the Resurrection and the Life," offered a short prayer and then the eulogy in which he paid tribute to the memory of the widely-known industrialist, stressing his "kindliness and humanity," his modesty and his wisdom.

He termed the Ohio Brass company which Mr. Black founded in 1888 as "in a special sense, Mr. Black's contribution to Mansfield."

Rev. Young also stressed Mr. Black's generosity with his home, his riding stables and his estate, and his love of his family.

After the funeral, several large baskets of flowers were taken to the General hospital and placed in the wards. One basket of white chrysanthemums was placed in the hospital lobby beneath a picture of Mr. Black.

DIES AT AGE 60

W. M. Reynolds Operated Battery and Supply Firm.

William M. Reynolds, 60, of 78 Poplar street, a Mansfield business man, died in General hospital early today following a brief illness.

Mr. Reynolds was the proprietor of the Reynolds battery and supply company, Park avenue east and Adams street. He was born in Mt. Gilead, July 18, 1877, but had spent the greater part of his life in this city.

Surviving are a son, Rev. Byron Reynolds, pastor of the North Englewood Congregational church, Chicago, and three sisters, Mrs. Martha Dellenbaugh, with whom he made his home here, and Mrs. Ione Friddell, also of Mansfield, and Mrs. O. B. Earl of Cleveland. He was a member of the Park Avenue Baptist church.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home pending the completion of funeral arrangements.

GUARDED AFTER KILLING TWO

Husband Held In Death Of Wife, Mother-In-Law.

HILLSDALE, Mich.—(AP)—State police guarded Clinton Brown, 45, in Hillsdale hospital today after a domestic quarrel in which his wife, Rena, 43, was killed and her mother, Mrs. Alice M. Curtis, 77, was fatally wounded.

Sergt. C. B. Miller of the state police said Brown came home intoxicated last night and shot his wife, his mother-in-law and himself. Mrs. Curtis died today.

Miller said Brown was jealous of his wife.

'WHEN GOOD FELLOWS, ETC.'—IS SPIRIT AS SOLONS WIND UP YEAR

If there were ever any animosity in city council—it was forgotten last night as outgoing Councilman Philip Smith sang his "swan song."

The spirit of the session was to the tune of "when good fellows get together." For Smith it was "to the pals I left behind me." For the past two years councilman-at-large, Smith is the lone retiring member of council. Council President Claude M. Hunter relinquishes his office to Councilman-at-Large Karl P. Troll Jan. 1, but Hunter moves into the mayor's office and still will be present at council meetings.

Smith's farewell was in keeping with the meeting—short and snappy.

"I want to thank you gentlemen for your splendid co-operation with me. It has been a pleasure to have been associated with you for the past two years," he said.

"That is the mutual feeling," Hunter told Smith. "You have never been afraid to express your convictions, and we are sorry to see you leave this body"

Mayor Earl A. McFarland was not present during the "swan song" period, having left earlier

The council hold-overs for another term will be Troll, C. N. Shultz, James E. Crum, Russell D. Porch, George C. Kyle, Lester D. Hunter, Fred Miller and George Berg. The newcomer will be Arthur L. Croak, who succeeds Berg in the Sixth ward. Berg becomes a councilman-at-large.

There was a rush on at the county clerk of courts office today, but it had nothing to do with Christmas.

Assistiug the applicants today in filling out their questionnaires was A. E. Wetherbee, Youngstown, inspector in the federal immigration and naturalization service. Petitions will be received at the clerk's office to Dec. 28.

A class of from 45 to 50 applicants is expected to take the March 28 examination, Henry said.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Wonder how many movie fans agree with S. P. O., of Chicago, who writes:

"Do you recall the days when the stock company stayed on at the old town opera house for many months and the same troupers put on everything from Camille to The Heart of Maryland? And do you remember how the illusion of the theater was lost when you watched even your favorite actors and actresses attempt to portray the various characters?

"Is it possible this is one of the things that is the matter with Hollywood? We see an acceptable player like Clark Gable, one week as a first mate on a slave ship; the next week he is the bluff business man and the third week he may be an Irish statesman. In all of these parts Gable, being only human, is just Clark Gable.

"If we didn't see these people so often we would enjoy their work much more. If you don't agree with this, try going to a picture wherein most of the cast is new to you. Again you will have the thrill of living with the action of the play."

* * *

It's an interesting subject, and one that Hollywood does think about. And Hollywood has answers, to wit:

Hollywood sells personalities, not performances. In the strict sense, Gable is not an actor, but a fellow who happens to please a great many people simply by being on the screen. The fans—not you and you but the great mass—pay money to see Gable, not the character he plays.

Studios would like to make it true that "the play's the thing." It would cost a lot less. But not enough people are like S. P. O. in sampling those pictures with new casts. They may enjoy "the thrill of living with the action of the play" once they're inside—but they don't go in. (Witness that fine film, "Make Way for Tomorrow," which lacked "big names" in the movie sense.)

* * *

Stars like Garbo, who can afford the luxury of infrequent films, realize the wisdom therein. But most of the players are under contracts that call for work whenever they're needed. The studios, having "bought" those players and paid for them, are going to use them. They "buy" for proven ability or box-office appeal or both. If they don't buy, a rival will. And the rival would work them just as frequently.

That's the Hollywood angle, sound or otherwise. But what do other fans think?

Tolerance of Other Woman Difficult

By VIRGINIA LEE

It is very hard for a woman to be broadminded where her lover or husband is concerned. Any suggestion of Another Woman in their lives and she sees red and isn't to be depended upon to show a liberal spirit.

A recent newspaper story reported a wife who had tried to take a sophisticated view of her husband's friendships with other women, but she finally broke down and beat the other woman with a statue.

Well, when you come to think about it, men are not always so tolerant when their wives or sweethearts and other men are involved. In those cases the male of the species is just as deadly as the female.

At any rate, a young woman, signing herself A. B., is much disturbed over the fact that her boy friend has promised his parents to entertain another young woman over a certain week-end, leaving A. B. to twiddle her thumbs or go out with someone else, as she pleases.

He assures A. B. that he doesn't care a thing for this other young woman, whom he has known for a very long time, and is merely doing it for his parents.

I think you did just right in agreeing to the proposition, A. B. Men do have to do such things once in a while, and if you try to be unemotional about it, you can see his point. Why don't you go out with someone else? It would be a good idea. Of course, if your friend shows you less attention after this episode than he did before, you can conclude that his love is waning. But I don't think there are any symptoms of it at present. If you go out with someone else he may not be quite so willing to oblige his parents if such a case should again arise.

It is always better to let your own common sense guide you in such matters than to be persuaded by friends that you are abused and have a temper tantrum.

* * *

M. H. S.: I do not have this young woman's address to send you. I have always found, however, that there are women neighbors, women in the church one attends, and in other organizations, like the parent-teachers association, with whom one can be friendly and spend pleasant afternoons.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, Dec. 23.

MUCH LIVELINESS and pleasant activity are read from the predominate planetary influences. Business should be satisfactory with signs of heightened holiday spirit. The spirit of jubilation gives the key to the excitement, and there is a corresponding spiritual growth.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year of much enterprise and activity, with all pertaining to writings, contracts and new business flourishing. However, there is an element of subtlety, intrigue or cunning to guard against.

A child born on this day may be versatile, energetic, constructive and at the same time subtle, mystical, romantic and altruistic. It may have peculiar alliances in life.

Painting Small Bedroom.

In furnishing the small bedroom, painted or natural light wood furniture will make for a feeling of space, while dark woods will have the opposite effect.

If the walls are painted or papered a light, pastel color, such as peach, powder blue, faint coral or pinky-gray, the room will appear larger than if a vivid color or a definitely patterned paper is used. The smaller the wall paper pattern the larger the wall space will look.

Woodwork in the small bedroom should be painted to match the background color of the wallpaper, or to match the walls when they are painted. The ceiling can be either white or an extremely pale tint of the side wall color.

Fussy, ruffled, and tied back draperies will make the small room seem smaller. Let the draperies be simple, and let them hang in straight, full folds to the floor. Dispense with glass curtains, or use plain ones of sheer voile, synthetic silk voile, or ninon. They should be window sill length.

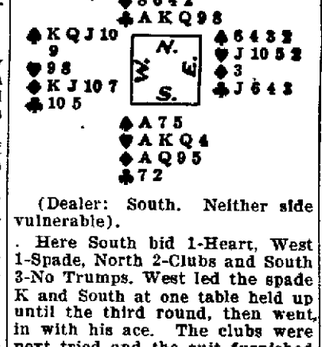
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

A ONE-ROUND HOLDUP

Instead of holding up an ace until the third round, it is sometimes better to come in with it on the second round of your play for a no trump game. By so doing, you may put yourself in position to throw the original leader back right into the jaws of some tenace.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable).

Here South bid 1-Heart, West 1-Spade, North 2-Clubs and South 3-No Trumps. West led the spade K and South at one table held up until the third round, then went in with his ace. The clubs were next tried and the suit furnished only three tricks, instead of the five South hoped for. The hearts were now tried and when they also failed to break, South cashed his diamond A and had to give the lead to West with a diamond. The contract was set one.

Mrs. Humphrey Wagar, Atlanta, Ga., was one of the South players in the duplicate where this deal was played. She went in on the second round of spades, figuring there was not much chance to run East out of spades by a holdup, if West held five. When she tried the club suit and it failed to produce more than three tricks, she attempted to pick up four heart tricks, but when that hope also failed to materalize, she led her last spade to West. It was quite evident that a diamond finesse was futile, as with the overcall, the diamond K was marked. West cashed three spades and then was obliged to lead a diamond.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

"DO YOU think anything could have happened?" I asked banally, when Dicky had told me that the plane Philip Veritzen had chartered should have reached Mineola before the three hours he had named, and which already had journeyed into infinity.

"Anything might have happened," he retorted, still in the low tones he had been using not to disturb Noel and Mary on the veranda. "But the only thing we can do is to lean heavily on that old saw of 'no news being good news.' But I think I'd better telephone the troopers and have them get in touch with the airport."

He looked uneasily at the veranda.

"But I don't like to stir up the kids," he said, and I proffered a solution which had just flashed into my mind.

"Why not go over to Father's wing and telephone?" I suggested. "You know it is a separate circuit, and you could give your friend the captain that number, and stay up there until he calls you back. They'd never hear that phone down here."

Avoid Suspicion.

"Right you are," he said. "Can we manage to get the chess board up there without spilling the men, do you suppose? I'll probably have to wait quite a time for the captain to call me back, and we might as well finish our game."

"Think a second!" I admonished him. "If you don't want Noel and Mary to get uneasy before they have to, you don't want to do anything to make them suspicious. If they looked in and found us both gone—"

"Say no more," Dicky countered. "You stay here, and hold the bridge, and I'll find out what's doing."

He went away upon the word, and I tried unsuccessfully to read and to figure out some way of averting the checkmate which Dicky's chess men were threatening. But I could settle to neither, and found myself fidgeting as might a restless child while the minutes ticked slowly away.

By the time Dicky came back, I had worked myself into what Mary would have dubbed a "fine case of jitters," and the news which he gave me was not quieting.

"The plane is long overdue," he said. "That's the information relayed to the troopers from the airport. Of course, later, they'll send out searching planes, but just now they're keeping their fingers crossed, and waiting."

Mary Worried.

"They'll telephone you, of course, the minute they have any news," I said.

"You can bank on that," he answered, and though his voice was so low that the pair on the veranda could not possibly have heard it, some sixth sense must have warned them of trouble, for an instant later they came into the living room.

"It's well over three hours, isn't it?" Mary asked. "Oughtn't we to have heard from Father Veritzen's plane before this?"

Dicky hesitated for an instant before answering, and I knew that he was debating how much to tell them. But when he answered, he kept nothing back, repeating to them what he just had told me.

Sorry Now.

"Oh!" Mary said blankly, her face paling. "Do you suppose there's been an accident? Oh! Noel! Noel! I feel so guilty someway. I ought not to have said those things about your father. But I didn't wish there'd be a little accident, did I?"

"Hush, Darling!" Noel said. "Of course you didn't, and you didn't say anything very bad. You have no reason to reproach yourself, no matter what has happened. But I suppose I ought to—"

"Stop right there, youngster," Dicky told him. "No matter what has happened, you were fully justified in staying over when your car went out of commission. If it had worked, you would have gone back But chartering any sort of plane and going back is simply risking an accident, and that's something you have no right to do now that Mary's your wife."

Tomato Juice or Tomato Soup
Eggs With Mushrooms Toast
Orange and Grapefruit Salad
Fig Tapioca Coffee

These dishes would fit into a Sunday evening supper or any day's dinner or supper. The recipes are by Miss Edith Barber, New York dietitian.

Todays Recipes.

EGGS WITH MUSHROOMS—Three tablespoons butter, three tablespoons flour, two cups milk, one-half pound mushrooms, six eggs hard cooked, two tablespoons grated cheese, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, salt, pepper, paprika. Make a cream sauce by melting butter, adding flour, then cold milk. Cook until thickened, add seasoning, then Worcestershire sauce, grated cheese and the chopped egg whites. Wash and skin mushrooms, chop and cook in a little butter for five minutes and add to sauce. Serve on toast, sprinkle grated egg yolks in the center, add a dash of paprika and garnish with parsley or celery tops.

FIG TAPIOCA—Three-fourths cup granulated tapioca, one-half teaspoon salt, three and one-half cups boiling water, one cup figs, one-half cup brown sugar. Cook tapioca, salt and boiling water together until clear. Add figs to the tapioca with the sugar. Cook five minutes, pour into a wet mold, chill and serve with cream.

Cleaning Curtains.

Take advantage of the next windy day to clean your chints coverings and curtains. Hang them on a clothes line and brush them quickly with a clean whisk broom dipped frequently in warm water.

Shopping with Wynnie Wynchel

Santa is carrying all his last minute gift problems to GOLDSMITH'S . . . and so are all the purse - and - style - conscious men and women of Mansfield and vicinity . . . and small wonder too, when you see the wonders of gifts I saw there today! My gifts are bought . . . I'm an early shopper, but so many people were amazed at the lovely things I told them I found at Goldsmith's that I've been appointed special shopping agent, and so I have the fun of shopping all over again . . . and for men's gifts—back to Goldsmith's I went! They're so nice about helping you shop . . . I was wrong a lot of times, but didn't realize how well I was helped into the right paths until it was all over. Don't get me wrong, they didn't try to sell me things I didn't want . . . they just steered me into the right track when I explained who the gifts were for . . . after all—they do know those things better than we do. Something I think I've forgotten to mention before — Goldsmith's have available beautiful monograms to give your scarf, robe, or pajamas the "for you alone" atmosphere so important in the from her to him gift. Mufflers are $1 and up. I watched one Mansfield Beau Brummell doing his gift shopping succumb to a swanky lemon yellow one for himself . . . I don't blame him—it was irresistable! . . . as are most of the gifts at Goldsmith's. They tell me many women have taken advantage of my advice on how to keep hubby home and happy . . . you know, with robes and loungies that flatter his type of masculine charm . . . related for perfect harmony in spirit and color . . . key them to a man's personality, as I suggested last week, to give the greatest comfort and relaxation. Don't give the athletic type fellow the cocktail jacket that so obviously should belong to the suave bachelor who entertains a lot at home—give the hardy fellow who enjoys cold showers a Terry robe and blazer pajamas. Silk lined silk robes and smooth conservative pajamas should be given to the traveling man who likes nice things, but hasn't much space to pack them. A dark flannel robe with small designed pajamas to the husband who'll wear nothing but white shirts . . . plaid robes and striped broadcloth pajamas will flatter the boys away at school or college. And for those fellows who can never get warm—outing flannel p.j.'s in gay "warm" colors. If you've shopped all the grand gifts at Goldsmith's and you're still at a loss for that most important gift . . . get him a gift certificate for a hat of his own choosing. GOLDSMITH'S have fixed them up so that they make a smart gift . . . and then you know he'll like his gift because he can choose it himself . . . and sport a new hat for the New Year. . . another Goldsmith gift—for both men and women is one of luggage . . . they do have some smart leather bags and the new airplane pieces are chic—also lighter to carry. Go to Goldsmith's and snoop around. You'll find it worthwhile—if you're looking for quality gifts at sensible prices.

Whee — here's a break says Santa and Says I . . . HOLLY STYLE SHOP have reduced the price on silk, flannel and corduroy housecoats. They're now only $1.98 and up. That's a break for you people who have let your shopping "for her" go until so late!

It's not hard to see that the best bets for last minute shoppers is to be found in the bag department at REED'S you'll find just the right gift for that woman you want to impress, but not dazzle. There's surely no other gift quite as acceptable . . . and the handbags at Reed's are really distinctive in appearance . . . rich in material . . . fair in price! Reed's knows all the tricks the new handbags are playing this winter. They know how the new bag grows larger for Sportswear, and smaller for dress wear. Eight inches or less . . . formal; twelve inches . . . tailored, over twelve inches . . . travel and utility. They know that bags that are deeper than wide are definitely new, that bright-on-dull effects is a winter dictate, and that top handles are on the increase. They're all there at REED'S—the gems of the Paris collections—just as they were originated in Paris by the world's foremost couturiers . . . When you realize that the originals sold for up to $80.00, that their copies are so faithful in every detail, you realize what an opportunity it is to buy them at such low prices. The largest price group for gift bags is the $3 group. Every bag reveals some individual detail of workmanship or design such as quilting, stitching, contrasting shining leathers or luminous suedes! In this group I liked best a black genuine calf pouch bag with a dull yellow metal frame. There was a black kid and patent in a novel octagon combination zipper bag. . . . For the woman who uses only the best and most conservative I suggest a Marcine bag in black leather, most substantial at $15. One of the more chic better bags is the "Pie-crust" style in suede or calf at $10 . . . at REED'S.

Santa's taking pictures of the prices in SEARS, Toyland . . . they'll make history — take my word for it . . . who ever heard of marking down the prices on dolls four days before Christmas? . . . and yet—that's what SEARS-ROEBUCK have done . . . to give you a chance to get that "little mother" in your family just the dolly she wants to cuddle and dress-up and put to bed and take to tea parties. . . . Other toys are priced at Sears regular low prices . . . the "Sky-Bird Flyer" is only a dollor . . . and it's really a fascinating toy—it takes off, soars about the skies (or what have you) and neatly accomplishes a 3-point landing. There's satisfaction for even you and me in that. There's been a Santa at SEARS, too, you know, and he tells me . . . that most of the youngsters want toys on wheels (could it be the influence of the trailer?). Tiny tots have the wooden elephant pulling a wagon (25c). In a class a little more advanced we find two horses and a wagon selling for $1 . . . To please those whose only horse interest is the wild-west movie, SEARS have little coupes at 98c, a slick "Busy Bridge" with little cars that whiz around, back and forth across the bridge—it, too, is 98c. A fascinating Airport at $1 boasts 6 planes, a telegraph signal, and brilliant lighting for the safelanding of most precious planes. Velocipedes for active legs run in price from $1.19 to $7.95. Wagons are $1 to $8.45. Trucks, wreckers, etc., are 98c . . . and a transport with 4 cars is only $1 . . . do your last minute toy shopping at SEARS-ROEBUCKS, you'll enjoy a good variety of toys, and solve that ever present problem-so-much-to-spend-and-so-much-to-buy.

MORE WEDDINGS

STOCKHOLM— (INS) —More people were married in Sweden in 1936 than in any other year since 1825 Not less than 53 266 weddings were registered or 8 51 per each 1 000 inhabitants In 1825 the same figure was 8 60 At the beginning of this year the total population in Sweden was 6,266 - 888 or 16 782 more than in 1935

PRICES UNDER 1936 LEVELS BUT TURKEY DEMAND EXCEEDS SUPPLY

Although the price of the Christmas bird has risen above that of the Thanksgiving turkey, comparative levels indicate that fowl and meat prices on the whole are below the 1936 holiday level. Chickens and turkeys are running a close race as favorites for the festive board. Many housewives prefer the chicken because of size, but the demand for the king of the Thanksgiving feast has exceeded the supply to date

Other fowl are selling slowly with the duck being least sought. Ham, which is higherin price than last year, is also more in demand. Prices of beef, lamb, and fresh pork are all below last year's level.

Fruit and vegetable markets have practically any delicacy or common food the Christmas table needs. Among the former are strawberries. Some of the more rare items in the vegetable kingdom available are chayote pear, carduna, which is the plant of the artichoke, mushrooms, anise root, and new Pascal celery

All down the line from the hothouse tomato to the humble potato —new, old or sweet—the vegetables will be arrayed for the holiday shopper. Some of the things included in the Christmas stocks are cucumbers, brussels sprouts, lima, green, and wax beans, acorn and Hubbard squash, and French endive, cabbage, egg plant, green onions, spinach, romaine and dandelion greens.

Topping the list of unusuals are the cluster raisins which have just appeared on the Mansfield fruit front. Other special holiday fruits include grapefruit from both Florida and Texas, pineapple, persimhons, avacados, figs, dates, and prunes, three varieties of grapes, kumquats, red bananas, tangerines, and pomegranates.

Two types of menus are in use in restaurants today table d'hote and a la carte. Meals ordered from an a la carte menu cost the sum total of the individual dishes Meals ordered from a table d'hote menu cost one set price.

"At Christmas... Play... and Make Good Cheer— for Christmas comes But Once a Year"
{this Christmas couplet was written by Thomas Tusser in 1557—exactly 300 years before the House of Seagram was founded (in 1857)}
GOOD CHEER—BY SEAGRAM'S
Giving and serving Seagram's at Christmas has been an honored custom since 1857. In the entire realm of fine whiskies, no name commands a deeper respect or enjoys a heartier approval. This Christmas... think before you give and give Seagram's.

U. S. ORGANIZES 3 LABORATORIES TO AID FARMS

Research Stations Are Called Outstanding Units In Agriculture Research.

WASHINGTON, (U.P.)—Establishment of three laboratories for investigation of regional problems were the outstanding developments of the past year in scientific agricultural research, according to the Department of Agriculture.

The laboratories were established by the Department of Agriculture in co-operation with states under provisions of the Bankhead-Jones Act. James T. Jardine, chief of the office of experiment stations, said.

A laboratory for study of animal parasites was established at Auburn, Ala., for Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky and Oklahoma.

Headquarters at Institute.

Experiment stations of the 13 states are co-operating with the department in developing the program for the regional studies in all the states, with headquarters at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, Jardine said.

Headquarters for the laboratory devoted to the improvement of swine through breeding methods were established at Ames, Ia., in co-operation with Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and Missouri.

It is expected, Jardine said, that nine other states—Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Kansas, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Wisconsin—and possibly other states, will arrange for active co-operation with Ames.

Twelve states—Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Nevada, Oregon, Texas, Utah, Washington and Wyoming—are co-operating in a laboratory program for improvement of sheep at Dubois, Ida.

The three new laboratories supplement three similar developments of the previous year—the vegetable breeding laboratory for the Southeast, the soybean laboratory for the Corn Belt, and the pasture improvement laboratory for the Northeast.

The laboratories, Jardine said, enable the state experiment stations and the Department of Agriculture research scientists to pool their efforts toward improvement of crops and livestock, eliminating the old practice of jealous competion.

This program for development of research according to regional needs "has the whole-hearted active interest and help of the state stations," Jardine said.

Regional research was made possible by appropriations under the Bankhead-Jones act, which—unlike previous legislation for support of the experiment stations—requires state appropriations to offset Federal contributions.

Each state complied with this requirement and, on the average, state appropriations were several times over requirements under this provision, Jardine said. State appropriations amounted to about $12,000,000, or slightly more than $2 from state sources for every $1 from Federal grants.

Flavor is more a matter smell than taste.

MAPS DISASTER RELIEF PLANS

Head of Army Corps Drafts Program to Unite Efforts of Four States.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—A plan has been offered by Major General William E. Cole, head of the fifth army corps area at Fort Hayes, to the governors of four states, to co-ordinate relief work in the event of future flood disasters similar to the Ohio river flood of last sprlug.

Representatives were present from the military staff of the governors of Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, and Kentucky.

Adjutant General Emil F. Marx and Major Simon P. Dunkle represented Ohio; Lieutenant Colonel John D. Friday, head of the Indiana National Guard, represented his state. Adjutant General William L. Homer and Colonel C. C. Tallman, superintendent of public safety, came from West Virginia, and Major John M. Kelly of the Kentucky National Guard, from Kentucky.

The plan offered by Major General Cole would have governors and mayors set up organizations similar to the army for supervising relief work. These would be co-ordinated with the other states.

Another meeting will be called to discuss the plan after the representatives at today's meeting have discussed it with the governors and other officials of the four states involved, all of which are in the fifth army corps area.
